SPENCER ROBINSON IS RE-ELECTED MAYOR

Syndicate Buys City's Airport

PREPARE TO DEVELOP LANDING FIELD

Glendale Gets Back Money And Private Individuals To Further Plans

THE city of Glendale no longer owns a municipal airport. The land recently purchased under contract goes back to private ownership. The completion of the sale to the city was held up by injunction proceedings. The City Council last night passed an ordinance rescinding its purchase. It is stated that a syndicate, consisting of seven local citizens has purchased the thirty-three acres, bonds for the purchase of which were voted down at the recent city election, from John Radcliff of Burbank, and is preparing to establish a commercial airport.

Price is $66,000

The price paid for the property is $66,000, which is the same sum for which it was sold to the city. Arrangements have been made by the new syndicate to reimburse the City of Glendale for all expenditures made upon the property for surveying, grading, tree cutting and road making.

Roy L. Kent stated that the city would lose no money through the attempt on the part of the city administration to develop the field as a municipal airport.

Plans for the development of the airport, which had been formulated by the Roy L. Kent company before the city acquired an option upon it, will be continued along the original lines. About twelve acres of the field will be set aside for miscellaneous factories. Another section will be reserved for airplane and airplane accessory manufacturers.

The north side of the field is being reserved for commercial hangars, while the south side is being saved for private hangars.

Ready to Lease Space

"We are ready right now to lease space," remarked Mr. Kent this morning, announcing the fact that the deal was placed in escrow yesterday.

The rental rate, which was accepted by the city administration, will be $3 per front foot per annum. Lots will range in depth from 90 to 150 feet. Although the deeper lots will be leased at the same rental per front foot, they will be occupied by manufacturers, which will utilize more property and consequently more frontage.

This field is to become a permanent airport, according to a definite and decisive announcement this morning by Mr. Kent. Although he predicted that the property, before long, would be extremely valuable, he denied that there would be any possibility of its being subdivided.

Greater Income

"We feel that we can get a greater income from it as an airport than in any other way," he asserted. "That is, of course, after it has been properly developed. We, who are taking this over, think that this field is going to have a very decided effect on the future of Glendale and the future of the aircraft game. We have an airport here which is easily accessible to Los Angeles because of transportation, both by trolley and motor bus."

Oil Concession Will Be Backed By Government

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The international decks apparently are being cleared for an oil struggle of worldwide importance at the second Lamsone conference next week, with America playing a leading role.

In the face of British and French protests against the Chester concession in Turkey, assurances were again forthcoming from official sources today that the American coup in the Near East is looked upon as a piece of legitimate business enterprise, and as such will command the support of this government.

The French government has lodged no "formal" protests with the state department against the Chester concession, it was announced today, despite cable reports from Paris that Premier Poincaré had dispatched a note to Secretary of State Hughes. Instead, Ambassador Jusserand has called on Secretary Hughes and "informally" informed him the French government considers the Chester concession in conflict with certain French interests.

BIRDMEN IN FIGHT FOR RECORDS

Army Aviators Reeling Off Miles in Effort to Set New Figures

DAYTON, Ohio, April 17.—Twenty-one hours in the air and going strong at 6:40 a. m. this morning was the achievement of Lieutenants John A. Macready and Oakley G. Kelly in the big T-2 airplane today.

During the night they broke the French record for 1500 kilometers and are believed to have established a record for 2,000 kilometers. At the end of the fortieth lap, 1,240 miles had been covered. This was finished at 2:59 a. m.

Shortly after 6 o'clock this morning they had been in the air for 20 hours and 16 minutes and had flown 1,457 miles. To equal the French endurance record they must remain in the air until after 7:40 tonight.

New Record Set

DAYTON, Ohio, April 17.—At 7:15 a. m. another world's record was born in the history of flying.

Lieutenants Macready and Kelly crossed the tape at the end of the fiftieth lap, 1,550 miles in 21 hours and 37 minutes, at an average hourly speed of 71.86 miles. Up to this time there had been no record for this distance.

With the powerful low compression engine roaring regularly and never missing, observers believed that Macready and Kelly would try to hang up a new record which the world may try to equal for some time to come.

The best time for any one lap thus far was 21 minutes and 53 seconds. The lap is 31 miles in extent with pilons or markers located at Wilbur Wright, McCook field and at New Carlisle. Official timers and observers are at each station to keep the plane in sight.

During the night powerful searchlights were playing on the machine which carried red and green lights on wing tips.

Starts Speed Dash

Lieutenant Harold H. Harris, in a De Havilland four, started at 6:28 to smash all existing records for speed over 1500 and 2000 kilometers on the same course over which Macready and Kelly are flying. The observers and timers will check both flights simultaneously.

K. K. CROSS FLAMES ON HILLSIDE

Glendale Stirred by Fiery Sign on Mountains North of Town

Last night's flaming cross on the hillside at the head of Louise street, that sent a thrill through the residents of the city in many sections and brought out the police department, was the second such demonstration on consecutive nights, the one Sunday night flaring forth on the hillside north of Pacific avenue.

Whether these pyrotechnic displays are the work of local hoodlums or a continuation of the Ku Klux activities that started in Glendale early Sunday night, at the Jerry Jeter tabernacle, is a question whose pros and cons are being weighed all over the city, today, and is by all means the topic of conversation of the hour.

Col. J. D. Fraser and Lieutenant Joseph V. Griffin, of the police department, who investigated last night's phenomenon, found its modus operandi to be a section of iron pipe about twenty-two feet high, sunk in the ground with a fifteen-foot cross-arm of the same material attached, and the whole contrivance wrapped in soaked rags, which, when lighted, gave out the weird, flaring glow that was seen for miles.

Many Watch Flames

Many people, witnessing the phenomenon from a distance, thought at first it must be the big electric cross on the top of Mount McGrorty, in Tujunga; but when they came to study the location they figured that if it were, then Mount McGrorty had suddenly moved several miles east.

The appearance of fiery crosses upon the hillsides of Glendale, on two successive nights, following Sunday night's demonstration at the tabernacle of Evangelist Jeter, when twelve masked men in Ku Klux Klan regalia marched down the aisle and presented him with five gold pieces and an official communication signed "The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan," has so wrought upon the nerves of many Glendaleans that from sundown to dawn they are about to jump at their own shadows and lie awake restlessly thinking what is likely to happen next.

Await Next Showing

At the police department, officers and patrolmen are wondering where the flaming insignia is likely to flare forth tonight, and are wondering what course to pursue in any event. Lieutenant Griffin feels that at least the cross should be placed in some centrally located spot, such as Brand and Broadway, for instance, where a larger number of people could enjoy the spectacle. And he thinks that last night's hour of 9:30 o'clock was a trifle late. From 7:30 till 8 o'clock would be a more suitable hour.

Members of the fire department are reported to have worked out a method for coping with the situation that they believe would prove most efficacious, and are satisfied that they have enough hose to reach any location the phenomenon may choose for its next appearance.

Chief of Rail Union Denies Plan to Strike

CLEVELAND, April 17.—Persistent reports that representatives of the big five operating railroad brotherhoods were preparing to appear before the railway labor board and demand immediate wage increases were denied here today by Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"I know nothing about it," Stone told International News Service. "What may happen in the future I am not prepared to forecast," he said. "But we have not yet formulated any demands."

TOO MUCH TALK

LONDON, April 17.—There is too much talking about international affairs by people who do not know what they are talking about, according to opinion expressed here today by Alexander P. Moore, newly appointed American ambassador to Spain and newspaper publisher in Pittsburgh.

BISHOP TUTTLE DIES

ST. LOUIS, April 16.—Bishop T. Tuttle, of the Episcopal church in the United States, died at his home here today. His death followed several weeks of illness, which started with a serious attack of grip. The bishop was 68 years of age.

Tammany Hall Boss on Stand Over War Deal

NEW YORK, April 17.—For the first time in his career, Charles F. Murphy, "boss" of Tammany Hall, today took the witness stand in a court and submitted himself to cross-examination.

He testified in his suit for the return of $175,000 which he claims he advanced to Louis N. Partof with whom he became associated in the war time glucose deal.

In his testimony Murphy supported a previous statement made by his personal counsel to the effect that he had got out of the deal because he was making the "unholly profit of $5,000 a day."

"They had raised the price from 8 to 14c for the stuff which went to the British," Murphy said. "I said that was too much, and as leader of Tammany Hall, I could not afford to be identified with any clique engaged in food profiteering during the war. I said I would have to get out of it."

Max D. Steuer, counsel for Partof, then read testimony Murphy had given before a grand jury in which Murphy had said he had done nothing to get the price of glucose reduced. "If I said that to the jury," he snapped, "I was wrong. I made every effort to get the price cut down."

In his testimony Murphy revealed the tremendous profits which were expected from the glucose business. The backers, Murphy declared, expected to make $40,000 a day for thirty days.

PACIFISM IS SCORED BY D. A. R.

Women Urge National Force Adequate to Command Foreign Respect

By GEORGE E. DURNO

For International News Service WASHINGTON, April 17.—

With a severe condemnation of pacifism and "other forms of destructive radicalism," the Daughters of the American Revolution today accorded a stirring ovation to a resolution in favor of a national defense, adequate not only to protect the nation against any possible internal uprising but also to command the respect of the foreign powers.

Memorial Continental hall, wherein is assembled the 32nd continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, took on all the aspects of a political hot bed today as the headquarters for the three candidates for the presidency-general swung into the final lap of the bitter campaign.

Each state delegation held a caucus to determine to which candidate it would throw its strength in the balloting Thursday. The candidacy of Mrs. G. Wallace Hanger, of Washington, D. C., is swinging forward in a manner that her supporters freely predict she will be returned the new president-general. Today her supporters claimed the delegations from Florida, Kansas, North Carolina, Connecticut, Georgia, California and two-thirds of the District of Columbia delegation.

The candidacy of Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, Pennsylvania, however, is being pushed with vigor. Backed by her own delegation, the largest in attendance, most of New Jersey and Delaware, and many others not yet announced, Mrs. Cook looms as a serious contender to Mrs. Hanger.

Mrs. Cummings Story, of New York, the third candidate, is facing the "third term" bogey, having served from 1913 to 1917 as the head of the Daughters. She controls many votes, however, and the other two candidates are anxiously wondering to which Mrs. Story will throw her votes in the case of a deadlock.

When the political fight raged hotly, the congress assembled to hear reports from the society's officer on the work of the past year.

SHAW QUILTS AS LEGAL ADVISER

City's Work Takes Up Too Much of His Time, He Informs Council

The resignation of Hartley Shaw of 212 West Park avenue as city attorney was received last night by the City Council.

A communication from Attorney Shaw, which is as follows, was referred to the committee of the whole: "To the Honorable City Council:—For some time I have felt that the work of the city attorney of Glendale required more time, strength and attention than I could properly devote to it consistently with my other affairs. Accordingly, quite a while ago I advised you of this fact and notified you my intention to resign, but you all joined in requesting me to reconsider the matter and see if some way could not be found to relieve me of a part of the work, so that I could continue with it."

When accordingly made a further trial of the matter, but still finding that I am unable properly to attend to the city attorney's work and also to my other business, "I, therefore, hereby tender my resignation as city attorney to take effect forthwith, or as soon as you are able to appoint my successor, but not later than May 1, 1923."

"Thanking you for the courtesy and consideration you have always accorded me during my tenure of office, I am,

"Yours very truly,

"HARTLEY SHAW."

No comment on the communication was made by any of the councilmen. It is reported at the city hall that they knew the resignation was coming.

In view of the fact that Councilmen Hall and Horn are new to the council, consideration of candidates to fill the vacancy did not take place last night, but may come up in the committee of the whole next Thursday night.

BRITISH OPPOSE ELEVATING GUNS

U. S. Navy Authorities Will Carry Out Changes in War Craft

LONDON, April 17.—Members of the British admiralty board told International News Service today they believed the spirit of the Washington conference treaties limiting naval armaments prevented elevation of gun turrets on warships to increase firing range.

Renewed reports from Washington that United States naval experts are insisting upon increased gun elevations and their contention that this issue is not affected by the Washington agreements, aroused much interest in British official circles.

It is understood the American naval authorities intend to go ahead with the war-craft alterations. An admiralty official informed International News Service the admiralty board had decided not to enter into negotiations on this topic with the United States.

The British believe that the spirit of the Washington agreement opposes elevation of guns to add to their range, said the official. "Therefore, the British do not intend to do so."

Gun elevation was attributed originally to Great Britain, but later it was found out that the American government had been advised erroneously.

LABORITES RIOT

LONDON, April 17.—Laborite members of the house of commons created a scene of uproar and discord this afternoon when the government refused to protect against France's policy in the Ruhr.

Department Head Urges Liberal Immigrant Law

WASHINGTON, April 17.—As a reply to the demand of Judge Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel corporation, that American immigration bars be let down to relieve an acute labor shortage in this country, Secretary of Labor Davis this afternoon made public a letter to President Harding, condemning such a policy as "short-sighted."

Davis' report on immigration was given out at the labor department shortly after Representative Albert Johnson, Republican of Washington, chairman of the house immigration committee, declared it was not likely that congress would approve the removal of existing immigration restrictions.

Davis recommended to the president a "liberal immigration policy" as to "naturalizable races," and on the other hand, said:

"We should bar absolutely from our shores all races which are not naturalizable under the laws of the land (Orientals) and all individuals of all races who are physically, mentally, morally and spiritually undesirable."

BAKER BILL HELPED BY J. R. WHITE

Former Glendale Solon Assists in Reapportionment War at Capital

SACRAMENTO, April 17.—John Robert White, of Glendale, former Assemblyman, who is returning to his home after a business trip to New York, is in the capital working for reapportionment. He has been in conference with southern solons and with Mrs. Ida Koverman, secretary of the Los Angeles Republican committee, all of whom are preparing to push the Baker bill in the Assembly Thursday, when it is scheduled to come up for action.

Senator Joe Rominger, of Long Beach, optimistically predicts the bill will get through the Senate if favored by the Assembly but no one else voices great hopes.

Signs Property Bill

Governor Richardson laid yesterday afternoon signed the community property bill, making wives practically business partners of their husbands. The busy justice courts of Los Angeles county came in for their share of attention last night, in the Assembly judiciary committee while Burton Fitts, deputy district attorney, was arguing for the bill permitting waiver of preliminary examinations. Action was postponed.

Efforts by Snyder to call up his bill, limiting the small claims court to wage claims only, failed, as did the attempt to revive Pelton's anti-capital punishment measure.

Klan Threatens to Probe Jail Conditions

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 17.—Ku Klux Klan intervention to rectify "Florida convict conditions" was threatened in a letter received today from St. Louis. It purported to be an official communication from the Klan of that city addressed to Judge T. N. Kneeshaw and G. Grimeson, special assistant attorney general of North Dakota, here to aid in the investigation of the death of Martin Tabort.

BALL AND SLEIGHING

WESTFIELD, Mass., April 17.—While the season's first baseball games were being played today, sleighing was still good near Westfield.

HALL AND HORN TAKE OFFICE AS COUNCILMEN; REAL HARMONY PREVAILS

Retiring Officials Pledge Aid to City and Incoming Ones Ask for Co-Operation Of Citizens In Carrying On Work

THE City Council of Glendale was re-organized last night, with Spencer Robinson again unanimously elected as mayor. A. H. Lapham and Dwight W. Stephenson retired as councilmen. Asa Hall and W. A. Horn were sworn in as councilmen. Each was assigned committee work. Oratory was a feature. Harmony prevailed. The political dove of peace perched contentedly on the council rail. One hundred or more persons were present to observe the ceremonies. The program was complete, except that Mayor Robinson refused to lift up his voice in song.

When Hall and Horn were sworn in, Mayor Robinson, although not compelled by the charter, relinquished the title of mayor, and was immediately nominated for the office by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Davis, the motion prevailing unanimously, with Robinson not voting.

Mayor Robinson gave Hall and Horn the committee work that was in charge of the retiring councilmen. Hall gets the public service committee, while Horn has the committee directing the police and fire departments.

Very little real business was transacted last night, the time being given over to re-organization and oratory. The next meeting will be held on Thursday night.

Appreciation was liberally manifested. The retiring councilmen got plenty of it. The new officials, too, were loudly applauded. Mayor Robinson got an ovation upon being re-elected—and everybody was happy.

"This meeting is just like an old-fashioned testimonial meeting," declared the mayor.

In Final Session

When the city council convened last night with Councilmen Sam Davis, A. H. Lapham, Dwight Stephenson, C. E. Kimlin and Mayor Spencer Robinson present, it was the final session for Lapham and Stephenson.

Shortly before 8 o'clock the "ceremonies of departure" began. Councilman Davis made the first talk. He briefly told of what the council had accomplished.

"We are the first council under the charter and we have had a hard row to hoe," declared the councilman. "The city of Glendale has been like a 10-year-old boy trying to wear pants made for a lad 6 years old. As a matter of fact, the pants were too tight and busted. The council has tried to cover the bare spots. The great wave of prosperity is continuing, but I predict the work of the council will not be so hard in the future. We have pulled the load, often wading through mud knee deep to do it. The various municipal departments now are in excellent condition; we have a fine organization of employees; the finances are in good condition; we have a reserve fund on hand and, in brief, there should be clear sailing ahead. We appreciate the work of the retiring members and we wish them goodbye and good luck."

Other Tributes

Councilman Kimlin then paid a tribute to the work of Councilmen Lapham and Stephenson. He asserted that the sudden growth of Glendale. "We have made mistakes, for we are but human. But at all times we were working together for the good of Glendale, and if we erred we did so honestly and with the best of intentions. I am indeed sorry to see Councilmen Lapham and Stephenson retire, and I wish them the best of success as they go from the municipal family."

End Water Litigation

Councilman Lapham, replying briefly, declared that his service on the council had been educational and, he hoped, of benefit to the city.

"I would have liked to remain until the sewage disposal question had been successfully answered," he declared. "However, I have aided in solving our water question. The rights recently obtained from the Ross and Thom interests and the indication that the Newport interests in Verdugo canyon will, upon the payment of a comparatively small sum by the city, transfer its water properties and rights, end litigation that has been pending for twelve years or more. Therefore, I leave this council under the belief that something has really been accomplished. We have had to organize the municipality to meet its sudden growth and the task has been a big one. We have a fine set of employees."

FINANCES OF NEW HOTEL SECURED

Work Will Soon Start on Structure at Brand And California

Financial arrangements for the $500,000 hotel that is to be erected at the corner of Brand boulevard and California street were completed at a meeting that was held last night when the entire amount was subscribed, with the exception of the last $50,000 which, it is declared, has since been underwritten by a group of influential business men.

Dr. E. H. Parker, owner of the site on which the hotel is to be erected, has been devoting practically his entire time to putting the project across and it is stated that the work will be launched in the immediate future, in order that the hotel may be in shape to care for the summer traffic as efficiently as possible.

BOMB IS HURLED IN IRISH CLASH

Rebels Dislodged by Troops In Vicious Battle at Old Castle

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service DUBLIN, April 17.—One man was killed and ten others wounded in a clash between Free State troops and republican irregulars at Castle Rosegreen today. A former Free State officer, named Sommers, was in command of the irregulars. They had taken shelter in the ancient castle and when "Free State" forces tried to dislodge them, a bomb was tossed from a casement. Seven Free Staters were wounded by the explosion.

The rebels made a dash for liberty, but were fired upon and one killed. Three Free Staters were wounded when the irregulars were dislodged from the castle.

A statement from the Free State headquarters announced the capture of three more republican leaders, Frank Bassett of the First Western division, Sean Gannon of the Third division, and John Andrews.

Reject Pope's Aid

No further word has been received as to the reported capture of Eamon de Valera, and it is generally accepted now as premature. It is believed, however, that the Free Staters know where he is and can take him when they wish.

Monsignor Luzzio, who was sent to Ireland by Pope Pius XI to assist the Catholic hierarchy to work for peace, issued a statement saying he was anxious to help the Irish people back to tranquility without further delay.

President William T. Cosgrave of the Dail Eireann, said the policy of the Free State government had not changed and that he did not believe the time was opportune for mediation. He said that, for the time being, the military would be in charge of the situation.

CHINESE BATTLE

SHANGHAI, April 17.—Fighting between Cantonese and Kwang Si troops was reported from the suburbs of Canton today. Kwang Si forces attacked Canton but were repulsed by troops supporting the government of Dr. Sun Yat Sen.

OUR HOME TREATMENT PLAN
You will like the home treatment. When given on the portable folding suitcase table it is so different from a treatment given sitting up or given on a spring couch, the dining table or other improvised structure. Hundreds have expressed their preference for this method in our eighteen years' experience with it, because it not only saves the trip to the office in all kinds of weather, but saves the various changes of costume. Women can usually take their treatment in the loose comfortable clothes worn about the house in the morning. Just here we wish to say a word concerning preparation for treatment. Patients are not unduly exposed. There is nothing about the treatment that need shock the most fastidious. A loose wrapper or treatment kimono is always worn over the underwear if it is necessary to remove any part of the upper clothing. The clothing below the waist line is never removed, and we do NOT treat next to the skin. All reports to the contrary are circulated by mistaken friends or designing enemies. If unable to come to the office, phone us day or night.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Goudie, Sr., of 324 West California avenue accompanied by their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gordon, and granddaughter Patricia, motored on Sunday to San Bernardino, Riverside and Redlands, a total trip of 175 miles.

The members of the Philathea class of the First Methodist church are entertaining this evening with a box social and party at the home of Mrs. Gladys Hall, 108 Harvey drive. The members' escorts and the young men of the Baraca class are to be special guests. Miss Marie Oliver and her social committee will be in charge of the affair.

Miss Mae McAteer of 451 Oak street, a student at Wilson avenue intermediate school, fell while participating in baseball practice at school yesterday morning and injured one foot so severely that it was found necessary to place the member in a plaster cast. She was taken to the office of Dr. J. E. Eckles for treatment immediately after the accident.

Miss Dorothy West of 1717 South Garfield avenue entertained as her week-end guest Miss Bobby H. Hoise of Hollywood, and her daughter, Miss Bertha Heise, of Lincoln High school, Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Phelps and daughter, Marion, of Sanborn Junction, and Harold Phelps of Glendale.

Call Meeting
To complete the organization of the Glendale auxiliary to the Children's Hospital Society, a meeting will be held in Room 26 of the Glendale Union High school, Thursday, April 19, at 7:30 p. m. Representatives from the various churches, clubs, and other organizations, will be present and all persons interested in this institution are invited.

Guests at Wedding
Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Ollsher of 441 West Milford street, attended the wedding last night of Miss Cecilia Mason and Norman Vallance, at 331 Gower street, Los Angeles. The Masons and Vallances are old friends from Illinois and were formerly residents of Glendale for a short time.

Eppworth League
The business and social meeting of the Eppworth League of the church, corner of Central and Palmer, on Tuesday night. Annual election of officers for the coming year is the order of business. The social hour is in charge of the fourth department of the league.

Group to Meet
The "Mae M. Northrup" group of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the First Methodist church, of which Mrs. C. E. Russell, is president, will meet on Thursday, April 19, at the home of Mrs. A. Hawkes, 215 North Kenwood street.

Award Two Contracts
For New Bank Jobs
Two of the contracts were awarded yesterday for the office building, to be erected on the northeast corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway by the Security Trust & Savings bank.

The Baker Iron Works of Los Angeles was given the contract to supply the 500 tons of steel to be used in the building. Its bid was $63,690.

Owing to the fact that steel has to come from Bethlehem, Pa., and to the length of time necessary to design and mould the art terra cotta, these two contracts have been let in advance of all other contracts.

Architect A. L. Priest of 1422 North Central avenue, stated this morning that general plans and specifications will be ready in about two weeks. At this time the general contract, which will run about $400,000 in addition to the two contracts already let, will be advertised.

Excavation has not been commenced, according to Mr. Priest, because of the necessary delay in getting the steel. As soon as this is on its way, construction work will be commenced and will be carried on until the building has been completed.

SOCIAL EVENT

Dancing Party
Mrs. Alberta C. Merrihew of 351 Salem street, entertained a group of High school pupils very happily Saturday night with an informal dancing party in honor of her son, Jack Traflet.

The rooms were decorated with pepper boughs used in profusion, with Japanese lanterns suspended from the greenery. The lights throughout the house were subdued, and assisted in carrying out the "garden party" effect, produced by the greenery. Punch was served during the evening. The guests were treated to a pleasant surprise when a beautiful birthday cake, appeared to be served with other dainty refreshments at the close of the very pleasant evening. This was the first intimation they had received that their host was celebrating his seventeenth birthday anniversary.

The guests were the Misses Alice Hill, Lucile Beach, Thelma Barker, Vivian Nay, Elizabeth Walker, Carolyn Ayars, Marjorie Temple, Alice Duesy, Marjorie Hart, Beryl Goodale, Messrs. Henry Grace, Kenneth Hilyer, Paul Cizek, Richard Johnson, Earl Eckles, Eugene Wernette, Alexander McPherson, Fred Salter of Los Angeles; Graham and Jack Traflet.

Section Meeting
The Shakespeare Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club met yesterday afternoon in the tea room of the clubhouse with Mrs. Lee Clotworthy and Mrs. S. C. Lepplman as hostesses. As Mrs. W. W. Jones, curator of the section, was absent, Mrs. H. D. Vandewater presided over the meeting.

The study of "Henry the Eighth" was begun under the leadership of Mrs. Garrett. Final arrangements were made for the Shakespearean tea to be given at the clubhouse on Monday, April 23. Shakespeare's birthday anniversary. A very fine program has been prepared. A scene from Romeo and Juliet and old English dances will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Kellar and a concert act play by guest artists, "The Bear," by Anton Tchekov.

Following the program tea and cake will be served in the tea room. The proceeds from this affair are to apply on the fund for the flat silver for the clubhouse.

Hostess to Club
Mrs. Wilma Cowley of 424 West Maple avenue was hostess recently to the members of the Doran Street Five Hundred club.

A daintily appointed luncheon was served at 1 o'clock. The rooms and luncheon table were artistically decorated in pink and white, roses and spring flowers being used.

Mrs. Emma Rice was awarded first prize for high score, and Mrs. Florence Hyne won second prize and Mrs. Mate Hepburn consolation.

Those present were Mesdames Buelah Dunbar, Florence Hyne, Emma Rice, Alma Gardner, Mae Hepburn, Electa Diltz, Anna Levering and the hostess, Mrs. Wilma Cowley.

Thursday Club
The Thursday Afternoon club will meet at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, 1423 South Brand, Thursday, April 19, at 2:30 p. m. A special entertainment is promised the members.

A card party for the benefit of the building fund is announced for Wednesday, April 18, 2 to 5 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Roy F. Bancroft, 121 West Euclid, street.

Informal Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Phelps of 1651 Gardena were the hosts at an informal dinner on Monday night, the guests being Dr. Ellen H. Hoise of Hollywood, and her daughter, Miss Bertha Heise, of Lincoln High school, Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Phelps and daughter, Marion, of Sanborn Junction, and Harold Phelps of Glendale.

Local Coup e Wed
Two Glendale's popular young people were joined in marriage last night April 16, 1923 by Rev. Clifford A. Cole, at the home of the bride, 216 E. Broad way, when Miss Helen C. Podurgel became the wife of Gordon B. Mapes, son of Dr. Mapes of this city. Both young people have lived in Glendale a number of years and attended together the Brownsberger Business College of Los Angeles. Mr. Mapes is an electrician and will engage in business here.

The bride was attired in a beautiful wedding dress of crepe de chine trimmed with Spanish lace and wore a lovely satin fringed, draped-hat to match and carried a bouquet of red roses. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jewell Standley, who are themselves newly-weds. The ring ceremony was used and after the wedding cake a short reception preceded the "going-away" of the happy couple.

It was the 31st of January that the mother of the bride became the wife of Mr. Amos H. Sullivan, making a rather unique experience in this home. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. A. H. Pierson of West Glendale were the only other persons present besides the attendants.

Section Meeting
The Shakespeare Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club met yesterday afternoon in the tea room of the clubhouse with Mrs. Lee Clotworthy and Mrs. S. C. Lepplman as hostesses. As Mrs. W. W. Jones, curator of the section, was absent, Mrs. H. D. Vandewater presided over the meeting.

Married Here
Porter B. Adkinson and Mrs. Hazel Crawford, both of South Pasadena, were united in marriage Monday noon, April 16, 1923, at the home of Rev. Clifford A. Cole, in the presence of Mrs. Amelia Brown of Eagle Rock, mother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Price of Glendale.

Becomes Bride
The wedding of Miss Flora Mae McThee and Harry J. Leitch, which was solemnized by Rev. T. M. Patterson of the Congregational church at Ventura on Friday, March 9, 1923, comes as a great surprise to their many friends. Miss Alice Mercer and Edward Mason accompanied the young couple to Ventura.

Mrs. Leitch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McGhee of 1229 East Broadway and a former student of the local high school. Mr. Leitch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Leitch of Windsor road, and has been a resident of Glendale for the past three years, coming from Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Leitch will be at home to their many friends at 117 North Kenwood street.

In this day they are fortunate parents who can associate with their children enough to absorb a little culture.

TUJUNGA

HANDSOME NEW THEATRE
IS OPENED AT TUJUNGA

Moving Picture Fans Throng to Premier Of Perronnet Amusement Palace On First Showing; Owners Warmly Praised

THE premier showing of the Tujunga valley motion picture theatre was a marked success socially, financially and as a personal achievement of Mr. Perronnet and his associates, and was indicative of future prosperity for the promoter, and pleasant, instructive diversion for the many patrons who packed the house to capacity. Early in the evening the S. R. O. sign was hung out and a large crowd was waiting to get in when the first show was finished. The seating capacity is three hundred, and all the seats were sold and many waiting before the feature picture was thrown on the screen.

Tujunga's first theatre is an asset to the town and a credit to the builders. It is well appointed for comfort as well as beauty. The walls are artistically decorated, by Mr. Perronnet himself, in three general color schemes ranging from a golden brown through a light blue to light blue on the upper walls and ceiling.

Panel mirrors adorn the foyer walls, where comfortable chairs are at the disposal of those waiting for seats. Rest rooms are conveniently located on either side of the foyer.

The curtain in front of the screen is of fireproofed cloth of gold. A superior projecting machine ran off the film without a flaw.

Dr. Theobald addressed the audience and congratulated them on their new place of amusement. He said, in part: "This theatre is a credit to the builders, and its excellence reflects the character of him and his associates. I propose a rising vote of thanks and confidence to the owners. All those in favor please stand." The vote was enthusiastically unanimous.

Owner Is Praised

M. V. Hartman followed Dr. Theobald and also congratulated the people on the acquisition of an up-to-date theatre and the Perronnet on their enterprise. He said: "It is obvious that people know their business and commendation is unnecessary, as their enterprise speaks for itself. While it is true that pictures have come to be questioned by some as to morality where children are concerned, I feel that the entertainment of our children by the Perronnet will be first-class and all that could be desired. We shall be turning our children over to them quite frequently in the future, and I, for one, have no misgivings as to what they will see here."

"Pictures, so far as the human mind is concerned, are not new. People have always thought in pictures. We get a much clearer idea from pictures than from the printed description. I congratulate the town and Mr. Perronnet." Tujunga business, club and civic life were well represented. A few among the many well-known people in the audience were Dr. and Mrs. Theobald, the M. V. Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Morgan, Carrol Parcher, Miss Frances Morgan, Walter Perry and his mother, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Good, Mrs. Durham, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cavot and Miss Clark.

P. T. A. Activities

The Tujunga Parent-Teachers' association will meet Wednesday afternoon, April 18, at the school house. Alkan Spurr, a young man afflicted with blindness, has been attending meetings, and was so impressed with the work that he has composed a song which he has dedicated to and named for the Parent-Teachers' association. He will attend this meeting and play his composition for the ladies. Mrs. Miller's room will entertain.

The Reading Circle of the Parent-Teachers' association will meet at Mrs. B. B. Reynolds's home, corner San Ysidro and Los Angeles, Friday afternoon, April 20, from 1 to 3, instead of from 11 to 12 as heretofore. The former time interfered with the lunch period and has been changed to make it more convenient for all members to attend.

Sunland's Parent-Teachers' association will give an entertainment and dance in the auditorium of the Sunland school Friday evening, April 20.

Mrs. Jessie Kimpel is chairman of the musical program committee and Miss Catherine Crews has charge of arrangements. Miss Crews will present an original skit written by herself. Refreshments will be served.

Legion Plans Show
At the American Legion, Post 250, meeting, the chief topics of discussion were plans for the coming vaudeville show to be staged on Thursday and Friday, evenings, May 3 and 4, and the annual Moon Festival of the Tujungas, to be given some time in September.

The legion is planning a bigger and better festival this year and will present several new features as permanent parts of the celebration. One of these features will probably be in the form of a pageant of the Tujungas, to be given some time in September.

An election of officers was held by the Tujunga Women's Christian Temperance Union at the last meeting. Mrs. Tonkier addressed the meeting on the Union and its work.

Officers elected were: Mrs. J. A. Jenkins, president; Mrs. H. C. Clayton, vice-president; Miss Carrie Brown, recording secretary; Miss Stella Kean, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Gertrude Walker, treasurer, and Mrs. Adelia Wade, parliamentarian.

LA CRESCENTA

Captain William Hubbard, late of the service, purchased a Honolulu Acres lot from W. Singleton on Wednesday, and Thursday had lumber on the ground for his new home.

Mr. Benito is building a stone fence on the Los Angeles boulevard side of his property on the corner of Montrose and Los Angeles avenues.

Mrs. Morrison, who was leasing the Weber house on Los Angeles and Altura avenues, is to visit in El Paso, Tex., for a few weeks, and on her return will reside in Glendale till the end of school.

Mr. Tillinghass is having the grounds of his new home on East Prospect avenue remodeled, the shrubbery and trees being supplied by the Montrose nursery, who are also doing the work.

Bandits Get $7000 In Bold Daylight Robbery

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—Five armed bandits late yesterday held up a messenger and guard of the Bank of Italy and secured $7,000 in cash and $3,000 in checks. They escaped in an automobile. The guard fired two shots at the departing machine.

The messenger, Arthur Belcher, and the guard, Cornelius Foley, had just received the money from the head office of the Yellow Taxicab company and were waiting a street car to take them to the bank.

The five men drove up in an automobile. Three of them leaped out and thrust revolvers in front of the two bank employees. A fourth in the car leveled a rifle on the man carrying the money.

One of the trio seized the satchel and all leaped back into the car, which sped away.

Foley drew his revolver and fired two shots. The holdup took place at Larkin and Fern streets.

The police shotgun squad quickly took up the trail. They have a good description of the bandits, who were unmasked.

It was indicated that the prosecution will consent to his release on his own recognizance.

At the same time, a conference was called which may result in the issuance of grand larceny complaints against two additional deputy sheriffs, charging them with the theft of ten barrels of liquor from a house across the street from Mrs. Hanlon's residence in Garvey road.

Deputy District Attorney McClelland met with Sheriff W. L. Traeger and Deputy Sheriff Walter Holtz to decide whether or not there is sufficient evidence against the two deputies, whose names were withheld, to take action.

30 Billion Offer Is
Ruhr Solution Basis

BERLIN, April 17.—Baron Von Rosenberg, German foreign minister, told the Reichstag today he believed Germany's offer of 30,000,000 gold marks would have to be the basis of any solution of the Ruhr and reparations issue.

"Dr. Bergmann, German economic expert, was authorized to offer the allies 30,000,000 gold marks at the conference in Paris last January," said the foreign minister. "But the delegates at Paris refused to hear the German offer. I believe this must be the basis of any definite solution."

Baron Von Rosenberg made references to some of the issues raised by Premier Poincare of France in his speech at Dunkirk yesterday.

Heroic British Sailor
Gets U. S. Medal

Edward Carr

Edward Carr, a member of the British mercantile marine, bailing from Folkestone, England, has received a gold medal from President Harding for his heroism in going to the rescue of the crew of the S. S. Munemar, which was stranded on the English coast. Carr and three others put out in a small boat and saved forty-two American sailors.

PARODY CONTEST IS NEARING END

Two Days Left for Poets to Send Verses to Revue
Judges

The Glendale Community Players' Parody Contest is nearing a close. Just two more days left before the final decision is made as to who the winners will be.

The following parody verses were written by recent entrants in the contest:

Oh, Mr. Gallagher, oh, Mr. Gallagher,
What's the matter with the voters of our city?

They surely knocked this town
When they turned the airport down.
Showing lack of pride and progress
—what a pity!

Oh, Mr. Shean, oh, Mr. Shean,
You should see old Dr. Cone for your pain.
When the "Bus Line" goes to town,
All of them will vote down.
Saying "Goodbye" to the high priced
dinky train.
—Clarence L. Edwards,
371 West California

Oh, Mr. Gallagher, oh, Mr. Gallagher,
Did you ever ride from Glendale to
L. A.?

If you took the old P. E.
I will bet my B. V. D.
You've felt "worse and worse and worse" every day.

Oh, Mr. Shean, oh, Mr. Shean,
Such kind-hearted, loyal friends I've known.
They're the cause of Glendale's fame.

And how would them all by name:
Positively, Mr. Gallagher? Absolutely,
Mr. Shean.

R. F. D. No. 5, Box 650, Glendale

Oh, Mr. Gallagher, oh, Mr. Gallagher,
Just now we seem to be in great demand.

At the Players' Revue.
We will sing a verse or two,
For we're always glad to lend a helping hand.

Oh, Mr. Shean, oh, Mr. Shean,
The people seem to think we are so
But we'll take part in the show,
And help to raise some cash.

For the Players, Mr. Gallagher?
No, the Legion, Mr. Shean.

Grain Operators to Obey Court Ruling

CHICAGO, April 17.—The Chicago Board of Trade will obey the law to the letter, it was promised in a statement issued by John J. Stream, its president, commenting on the supreme court's upholding the grain futures act.

"We will conform in every particular to the law," he said. "What effect some of its provisions may have on orderly marketing the future alone can disclose," he said.

RAID ON BANQUET
SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—A surprise raid on a banquet in progress on board the Matson Navigation company liner Matsonia Saturday night became known when Prohibition Director Samuel Rutter announced he would secure a warrant for the arrest of J. R. Harry, a steward, and another man, said to have been a bartender.

According to the prohibition agents, they seized a quantity of liquor despite efforts on the part of the 200 banqueters to dispose of it by hurling it through port-holes and from the deck.

EAGLE ROCK

CHURCH MEMBERS LAUNCH
DRIVE FOR NEW BUILDING

Congregationalists Will Erect Handsome Structure On Site Of Present Edifice With Enlarged Facilities

EAGLE ROCK is to have a new Congregational church, where the present edifice now stands, at the corner of East Colorado boulevard and Linden way, announces Rev. E. Morgan Isaacs, pastor, and to that end all bodies of the church are co-operating. Meetings of the board of trustees are being held weekly, to discuss plans, finances and other phases of the enterprise, while the women are conducting a series of "chain luncheons" to raise funds for the new structure.

In addition, several teams of men and women, under able captains, are at work under the church finance committee, and reports indicate that they are nearing their goal.

The plans call for a new church of spacious dimensions, some of whose features will be an auditorium seating 400 people, a social hall, kitchen, Sunday school room, basement and various other smaller specialized rooms.

Mrs. Alice Winters, who plans to give one of these chain luncheons this Saturday, April 21, at her home, 139 North Highland avenue, explains how this novel idea works. Twelve guests are invited to each luncheon, the first three of whom, in return, give a similar luncheon to twelve other women—in this way keeping the chain going and expanding indefinitely.

Playground Plans
Plans are also under way in Eagle Rock for a permanent playground for the children, and Mrs. A. G. Kelly, president of the Federated Parent-Teachers association, is working with a committee to see what can be done to gain the cooperation of the Playground Commission of Los Angeles, it being understood that this commission is considering the location of a playground somewhere in the vicinity and would be favorable to tendering this bounty to its newest member of the community fold, Eagle Rock.

Realizing what a boom such a playground would be to the community, Mrs. Kelly is exerting her full efforts to obtain this institution for the local children.

Federated Music Clubs
Several events by Eagle Rock's various music clubs are scheduled for the near future. On Thursday morning of this week, the Thursday Morning Club will meet with Mrs. Leora Johnstone, 157 North Central avenue.

The hour set for the meeting is 10 o'clock and Chopin will be studied.

Mrs. Constance Braasch, president of this club, states that it includes nine active members at the present time. Meetings are the first and third Thursdays of each month.

On Saturday the Junior and Juvenile music clubs will hold a joint meeting at the Women's Twentieth Century club, Miss Iola Stephens is president and Mrs. Constance Braasch director of the Junior club, while Harold Harsh is president and Miss Ethel Congdon director of the Juvenile club.

These clubs, Mrs. Braasch points out, are all independent organizations, although each belongs to the California division of the National Music Club federation.

Yesterday afternoon, April 16, the regular weekly card party at the Women's Twentieth Century club was held. Mrs. Hunt hosted. On Thursday, April 19, there will be a luncheon and card party at this club, as part of the $1000 fund program, with Mrs. Duette, hostess.

Civic Events Tonight
Two important civic events are scheduled for tonight, the meeting of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce, at the city hall, and the meeting of the Sunrise Civic Club, the official improvement organization of the east end.

A feature of this latter event will be election of officers, while at the Chamber of Commerce meeting, definite plans for the forthcoming membership drive will be discussed.

"The special purpose of inspired prophecy is to testify to the world of the existence of God," declared Rev. G. W. Reaser, who spoke at the Seventh-day Adventist tabernacle on Myrtle avenue, Eagle Rock, Sunday night.

The Bible says, "no man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him." John 1:18. We learn from 1 Pet. 1:10-12 that the prophets prophesied by the spirit of Christ which was in them. Christ was the witness testifying through the prophets concerning the existence and character of his Father.

In Rev. 14:10, the spirit of prophecy is called "the testimony of Jesus." Testimony is what is given by a witness, and Jesus is said in the Scripture to be a witness. Isaiah said of him, "Behold, I have given him for a witness to the people" (ch. 55, v. 4), and in Rev. 3:14 he is called "The faithful and true witness." In the prophetic, Christ is testifying to the world concerning the existence of Him whom no man has ever seen.

In this work Christ has an angel associated with him, the angel Gabriel, whom he calls "Mine angel."

Faith's Foundation
"It is the testimony of Jesus in the spirit of prophecy which gives us a solid foundation for our faith," the speaker said. "When the Virgin Mary was found to be with child, an angel revealed to her husband, Joseph, that the child was begotten by the Holy Ghost, and this was in direct fulfillment of the prophecy of Isa. 7:14. Thus we have not merely the testimony of a Jewish maiden concerning the origin of her son, but the testimony of prophecy."

"Many prophecies had been given concerning the coming of the Messiah, and not one of these could fail. King Herod sought to defeat them by attempting to slay the infant Jesus, but he failed. A remarkable prophecy in the last verse of Isa. 44 and the first four verses of Isa. 45 speaks of Cyrus, king of Persia, calling him by name one hundred and fifteen years before he was born, and telling what he would do for the rebuilding of Jerusalem and the release of God's people from captivity. The king of the Medes, looking upon Cyrus as a coming rival, ordered his death in infancy, but in a remarkable way his life was saved. The prophecy of God could not be defeated. Cyrus, when he came to the throne, did all that the prophecy said he would do, and this, as we learn from Isa. 45:5-6, was for a testimony to the world of the existence and sovereignty of the God of heaven."

Wednesday evening next Rev. C. S. Prout will speak at the Tabernacle on the subject, "The Devil's Vacation." He will tell why the devil is to have a vacation, where and how he will spend it, and how long it will continue.

Physician Hurt
Dr. G. C. Wickman of 368 W. Wilson avenue, Glendale, is reported to be recovering from internal injuries received Saturday, when his machine collided with the Glendale-Montrose railway car at the corner of Rowland and Colorado in Eagle Rock.

Dr. Wickman stated in his report to the Eagle Rock City Hall that he was driving east on Colorado boulevard, and that he attempted to turn north at Rowland, but that the motorman did not see his signal, and crashed into him. His car was damaged considerably, as the impact was forceful.

A group of residents of Eagle Rock for more than three years is to make departure for Chihuahua, Mexico, the first of next month. These residents, whose home country is Mexico, are Mrs. Maria M. Fuller, whose husband, W. B. Fuller, is now in Chihuahua and is sending for her, and Mrs. Fuller's mother, Mrs. Romelius Martinez, and her son, Mrs. Patricia Martinez. They contemplate staying in Chihuahua for two years, after which they will return to Eagle Rock.

Mrs. Amy Mecartea of 425 South Central has had as her guests her son, L. V. Wood, and daughter, E. D. W. C. Land, and her friend, Miss A. B. McFarland, all of Fresno, who are returning to their homes the latter part of this week after a two weeks' visit.

For the benefit of disabled World War veterans, the Women's Twentieth Century club of Eagle Rock is to give a card party Monday afternoon, April 30. There will be tables for Bridge, Five Hundred, Mah Jongg, Whist, and other games. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Arthur Doucette or Mrs. Hal Baly, who state that they anticipate many private groups at the club on this occasion.

Club Will Elect
The annual election of officers for the Sunrise Civic club of Eagle Rock is to take place tonight, at the club's headquarters at the school. G. C. Mattheis, president during the past year, will hand over the leadership to his successor, after delivering a few appropriate remarks.

It has been rumored that the talk of the evening will center around the subject of merging the Sunrise Civic club with the Chamber of Commerce. Though nothing official has been given, this subject has been given brief mention, it is understood, and several prominent club members intimated that it would form a part of the discussion, before the election takes place.

Mrs. Christine Pape Myers, who for years has been prominent in concert work throughout the county, will give a violin solo, and Mrs. John C. Kraus will sing. Mrs. A. Rose will act as accompanist for both numbers.

Offer Scholarship
The Twentieth Century club of Eagle Rock is to bestow an honor scholarship upon the Eagle Rock girl who shows herself to be worthy of the honor. The scholarship, which is to be given in June, is open to competition from any Eagle Rock girl whose name is sent to the committee, of which Mrs. Harold Ide Cruzan is chairman.

The committee is planning a series of entertainments to begin Friday, April 27, for the benefit of the scholarship fund. The Women's Glee club of Occidental will give a splendid program of music, presenting several feature numbers. All of the Eagle Rock girls attending the junior and senior years in high school will be the special guests of the club on this occasion.

The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. Harold I. Cruzan, Mrs. G. W. Young, Mrs. C. S. Mattheis, Mrs. Mary Fiske, Mrs. F. M. Lang, Mrs. Larson, Mrs. Blanche A. Gardner, Mrs. Humphrey Marshall, Mrs. Elmer Richardson and Mrs. H. G. Shearin.

Santa Monica Board Of Trade Holds Meet

Many matters of interest and benefit to Glendale were discussed at last night's meeting of the Santa Monica Board of Trade, held at the Women's club, Sawtelle, a large attendance of prominent citizens being present, in addition to the official representatives from the ten Chambers of Commerce and civic bodies from Glendale to Santa Monica, which constitute this board of trade.

Among the matters brought up was the plan for modifying the grade between Sawtelle and Beverly, that of a new Pacific Electric depot at Sawtelle, and various street widening and civic improvement plans.

A communication received from the Southern Pacific officials stated that the main entrance to the new Glendale depot would be on Brand boulevard. The next meeting of the Santa Monica Board of Trade is announced for Monday night, April 20, 7:30 o'clock, at Cole's hall, El Centro and Santa Monica boulevard.

Associations Join in Plans for Bonfires

A joint meeting of the Glendale Foothill Improvement Association and the Grand View Parent-Teacher Association was held last night at the Grand View school, at 8 o'clock, Mrs. Guy T. Finney, president of the P. T. A., presiding.

The entire time was devoted to a discussion and formulation of plans for the big bonfire and entertainment to be held at the school house next Tuesday night, April 24, at 8 o'clock, full details of which gala affair will be announced tomorrow.

The affair, which is in observance of National Play Week, is being given under the auspices of the Glendale Community Service organization, in conjunction with the Grand View Parent-Teacher Association and the Foothill Improvement Association, and will be one of the outstanding events of the year for this section, states Mrs. C. Ellsperman, one of the board of directors of the latter organization.

FORD GIVES AID
DETROIT, April 17.—The doors of Henry Ford hospital will be thrown open immediately to every disabled ex-serviceman in Michigan deprived by red tape of what he feels the government owes him. The announcement was made after a conference yesterday between Alvin M. Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, and Henry and Edsel Ford.

COUNCIL MINUTES

Council assembled in regular adjourned session at 7:30 o'clock p. m. All members present. Minutes of April 5 read and approved; minutes of April 12 held over.

Resignation City Attorney

A communication from city attorney in which he tendered his resignation was read, and on motion of Councilman Kimlin same was referred to committee of the whole.

Transfer Water Stock

Moved by Councilman Stephenson, seconded by Councilman Lapham, that one (1) share of stock in Verdugo Canon Water Company, being the same share formerly held by Dwight W. Stephenson, trustee, be transferred to S. A. Davis, trustee, and the mayor and city clerk are hereby authorized to execute said transfer, said share to be held by said S. A. Davis as trustee for the city of Glendale.

Adopted Ordinance

The ordinance entitled "An Ordinance authorizing the sale of certain real property owned by the city of Glendale to Robert C. Plume, Emil O. Keifer and Eugene J. Wix, trustees of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion," which was introduced on February 23, 1923, was read, and on motion of Councilman Stephenson, seconded by Councilman Lapham, said ordinance was passed and numbered Ordinance No. 774.

Resolution Adopted

Councilman Davis introduced a resolution entitled, "A Resolution of the Council of the City of Glendale authorizing the execution of a rescinding agreement," which was read, and on his motion seconded by Councilman Kimlin, the same was numbered Resolution No. 1897 and passed.

Adjournment

Moved by Councilman Stephenson, seconded by Councilman Lapham, that Council adjourn sine die.

Inauguration of New Council

At this period Councilmen Stephenson and Lapham were relieved of their duties as Councilmen, and tendered words of appreciation. After taking seats in the audience A. Hall and W. A. Horn, newly-elected councilmen, were called to the chair, where they were administered the oath of office by the city clerk, and the new Council convened.

Appointment Mayor

Mayor Robinson in well-chosen words called attention to the courtesy of the incoming Councilmen and the desire that a new Mayor be appointed. Mayor Robinson then called the city clerk to the chair and took a seat at the Council table. City clerk called for motion and Councilman Kimlin, after discoursing upon the qualities of former Mayor Robinson, moved that he be reappointed, motion was seconded by Councilman Davis. Vote as follows: Ayes, Hall, Horn, Davis, Kimlin; noes, none; absent, none; not voting, Robinson.

Appointment Committees

Mayor Robinson having taken the chair, proceeded to appoint chairmen of committees, which were as follows: Public Safety: Horn. Public Service: Hall.

Athletic Program Put On by Local Elks

A host of over 600 Elks rallied last night to the East Colorado street lodgehouse, to witness four boxing bouts staged by R. L. Galvin, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The athletic program began at 9 o'clock, having been preceded by a business meeting at 7:30 o'clock, and afforded the many hundreds of spectators an evening of rare pleasure.

COURTESY

KIWANIAN HENRY J. ALLEN
EX-GOVERNOR OF KANSAS

A strong man armed is to be feared; but a strong man armed with courtesy is a conqueror. Discourtesy ruined the German Empire. Courtesy won a world of allies for France and Britain. Courtesy is an angelic tribute; discourtesy is typical of the cave-man, the barbarian and the degenerate. While Napoleon was the courteous lover of his Empress Josephine, he was the master of Europe and himself. With his discourtesy and her broken heart began the ruin of his mighty dream. Courtesy recalls the customer and invites a new one; discourtesy drives away those you have and keeps away others. Courtesy costs nothing; but it is the greatest selling proposition in the world. Wisdom is always courteous; discourtesy is the earmark of stupidity. It is said that the American abroad is discourteous; if it be so, it is a grievous fault indeed. Discourtesy is no mark of superiority. Your real aristocrat is the most courteous to those whom fate has placed in lesser walks of life than those he treads; thus we have a paradox which is a great truth—a real democrat is the only real aristocrat. I would rather have a man give me a dime with a smile and a word of friendship than throw a dollar in my face. So would you. We are made that way. It is human nature. We all like money, but there is not one of us that does not know there are things more precious than money. One's self-respect is one of them. The discourteous man insults the self-respect of others and makes enemies of them while he is making a fool of himself. Pride goeth before a fall and courtesy precedes friendship. Courtesy is the mantle of love; the ornament of charity; kingliness in manhood, and the crown of womanhood. True, a hard-boiled egg has a smooth exterior, but at the same time, we do not ship pearls in barrels. Out of a man's mouth his heart speaketh.

"We're all so bloomin' busy a workin' out our plan,
We don't take time to step aside and greet a fellow-man;
We're missin' lots of pleasure by neglectin' to unbend,
When a good old fashioned handshake may mean a lifelong friend."

It is the policy of this store to treat everyone who enters with
"COURTESY" THE YEAR 'ROUND

His Mark
TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY
Ad Schuster

It is due the man that his right name be kept a secret with that of the place where his story had setting. Then, again, there may have been a mistake somewhere. Flenor may have been wrong. It was a queer mix-up, all around, and one impossible in almost any other part of the world.

When Rawlins was star reporter for The Relay, leading British paper in a South African city, he was a big man in bearing and prospects. It was known he was close to all the officials, and he was engaged to the daughter of old General Watson.

"For all he is made," they said in the office, "he continues to grind out good copy, and he will until the day he quits—that's Rawlins." We all expected the resignation any day, for the son-in-law of General Watson would not have to pound a typewriter in The Relay office.

The resignation came, but not as expected. Something happened to the reporter's love story and he could not face the job and the city after all the dreams he had built. Rawlins did not show up one morning and no one knew where he went.

"If anybody sees Rawlins," it was Flenor, the managing editor, who made the announcement, "tell him there is a check for $300 waiting him. He won't be the annual prize again." It was Flenor's way to pretend he thought the reporter was around town and might show up any day.

Office forces change down there. Six years later a man came into The Relay and asked for a job, and got it because he reminded Flenor and the few old-timers of Rawlins. This man was gray and thin and carried a scar which turned his lip into a sneer. As he wrote clean copy, he held on. We knew him as Griggs, Ben Griggs.

It was Phil Parker who built the fanciful story around Griggs. "Do you know," Phil put it, "it would be like old Rawlins to come back and work here as another man if he thought he could put it across? I've been studying him and, do you know, he's a lot like the old boy."

That is how it started. Flenor scoffed at the idea from the first, and had a convincing argument.

"This guy," Flenor said, "can't write in the same class with Rawlins. He has to look up the spelling of the names of men Rawlins used to pal with, and he hasn't any of the other's tricks. No, Parker, it is all right to let your imagination work, to be a detective, but you're way off."

Parker went so far as to put it up to Griggs, who offered at once, to fight. "Do you think I'm here working under an 'assumed name?' he asked. "Spot me as a crook, or something, maybe? Want to see my baby picture and my birth certificate? Who in the world's Rawlins?" Parker retired, defeated.

"I've got it figured out," he announced. "It's the fellow's eyes, and that's all there is to it. This guy's shiftless and untidy, and you know how neat and brisk Rawlins was. Nope, Flenor is right and we were on the wrong track. All the same, it would have been a bully yarn."

After that Griggs was accepted as Griggs, and we put our romancing into our work, which place is where it belonged. Then Griggs, who could not mix and was falling down in his work, began to lose out. He was not well and had no interest. We took to betting on how long he would last. There were days when he did not come to work. Flenor would not stand for that.

"Well, I'm canned," Griggs announced one day. "You have all loaned me money and I guess you are wondering how you are going to get it back. If I can manage to ship back home, now, I'll pay you some day." He grinned his twisted smile, pulled his cap over his forehead and started out. Flenor stopped him and slipped him an envelope. Griggs disappeared.

"Remember the $300 prize that was coming to Rawlins?" Flenor asked, and we nodded. "Well, I gave it to Griggs."

"If you did," said Parker, "it wasn't because you are kind-hearted, for you are not. You are thinking, maybe, I was right."

Flenor squinted at the bunch, then motioned us into his office. "Look at this," he held out a piece of copy, written by Rawlins in the old days, neat copy, of which any editor might be proud.

"Now look at this," Here was the ordinary work of Griggs. Parker wilted.

"Look good," Flenor insisted. "Take a squint at the signature." The newspaperman closed his copy with a mark all his own. A line of dashes broken in the center by one or two initials or characters, this signature becomes a fixed habit.

"That kid," said Flenor, "was able to change his style of talk, his way of dress, to forget his friends and to act Griggs in every other way. But once in a while, whenever he was rushed, he closed his yams with the old"—090

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

FATS
In the normal digestion fats are converted first into what we call fatty acids. Then these are broken down to carbon dioxide (CO<sub>2</sub>) and water (H<sub>2</sub>O). This chemical breaking down sets free heat and energy. These final "end" products, carbon dioxide and water, are eliminated through the lungs, the skin and the kidneys.

Now, if we eat more fat than can be fully oxidized or broken down to carbon dioxide and water, one of two things may happen. First, the fat elements may recombine into fat and this fat tuck itself away in the tissues. This may be desirable or undesirable, depending upon how much already tucked away. Or, second, this may happen: The excess fat may break down to the fatty acid stage and not be able to go any further, upset the system in general and irritate the skin and mucous membranes. The skin will be more susceptible to eczema, pimples, boils, etc., and the mucous membranes tend to become catarrhal. It is often found that adolescent boys and girls overeat of fats (and candy), and this undoubtedly is one of the reasons acne is more prevalent at that age.

Fried foods are to be avoided because some of these fatty acids are formed and because a coating of fat is deposited by frying slows down the digestion of the foods so treated. In some cases it may retard digestion so much that more or less stagnation is produced, with its resulting putrefaction and auto-intoxication. It is obvious that fried foods should be avoided in the diets of children.

You know how offensive and ble underneath, and fasten to 3 ch. I never knew anyone to fail in making this holder, if they were careful about keeping the thread tight. It is very pretty when finished.—M. W.

Answer to A. M. S.: "It was kind of you to write me that you would send your Ear of Corn knitting directions in case I received none from other readers. So many women have been good enough to send theirs that I will not ask you to copy yours—but I do thank you, just the same, for offering them."

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. ## BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

ANSWERED LETTERS
A Constant Reader—These blisters on your hands and feet continue because they infect each other. Have the doctor prescribe for them. It is a simple matter to heal them very quickly when you have the proper treatment.

Marjorie Y.—Neither henna nor any other coloring, will affect the shade of hair at the roots. Not even the strongest of dyes could do that. The hair will always grow out in its natural shade, but this process is so slow that it will take weeks before the difference in coloring will be noticed. Everybody who colors the hair knows this and touches it up at the roots from time to time.

That is, everybody who makes a complete change in the color of the hair. If you are merely brightening the shade of using henna in the shampoo, this very act will be all that is needed, for the hair will hardly lose the tint before it is time to repeat the shampoo.

Discouraged—A large bust is less noticeable if the corset is worn rather loose at the waist, and any corsetier will show you how to lace the corset to effect this change. Contrary to what you might expect, this looseness of the corset over the waistline really makes a stout woman appear to be much more slender than she is. Wear the new blouse effect in your new dresses as this style lends itself very well to the full bust.

Carmen T.—Clear these clogged pores by using plenty of cleansing cream at least once each day, and remove this with very warm water. Close the pores then by dashing very cold water over the skin or by giving it an ice rub.

E. H. M.—As sage tea was used many years as a tonic as well as a coloring for the hair it could not have been harmful to the scalp. Powder the soles of the feet and it may absorb this excessive perspiration. If this does not stop the trouble, try a powder that is made astringent. Any druggist can make this for you.

A Constant Reader—Massage into the arms any flesh building cream to fatten them, and take the exercises that develop grace, such as those used in swinging the Indian clubs.

Beauty P.—Any enamel that is painted on the nails will cause them to become brittle. The best polish is that wrought by buffing the nails. Buffing will give also the pinkish tint that you want, since it improves the circulation under the nails.

R. B.—A simple exercise that will reduce the thighs, hips and stomach is the one of bending at the waistline and then swinging the upper part of the body in a circular movement, first to the right and then to the left. In each case try to describe a circle, coming back to the original position.

Ruth S.—These whiteheads are treated almost the same as if they were blackheads. The only difference lies in the softening and clearing out the soil in the pore. Massage with the finger tips using a good cream or a heating oil and end the treatment by contracting the pores.

Tomorrow—Rejuvenating the Neck

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

JUST TO TALK ABOUT
"You never seem to read a great deal," I heard a mother say to her 22-year-old daughter, "and yet whenever any book comes up you always seem able to talk about it. I can't understand how you find the time to read them all, with all the other things you do."

The daughter laughed in that tolerant way in which youth laughs at the ignorance and lack of worldly wisdom of middle age. "I don't, old dear," she said. "I couldn't possibly. But I can read the reviews and I'm careful to. I know you wouldn't want me to seem ignorant before your neighborhood friends."

The Best Reviews!
"And you talk so well," sighed the mother, who is a really thoughtful person, who actually reads books for the pleasure she gets out of them.

"Surely I do," triumphed her daughter. "I'm very particular. I read the best reviews. If you'd do the same you wouldn't have to keep saying 'I haven't read this or that' the way you do."

What are books for—to read and enjoy?
Or to use as material for conversation?
What are any of our pleasures for? To enjoy? Or as material for future conversation?

"You Really Must See It"
I think there are some people who think of their pleasures more in terms of the chance to talk about them afterwards than in actual present enjoyment.

Such people go to the new play more for the chance to say they have been there because they greatly enjoy it. Give such people the chance to go to all the plays they wished, if they were to go invisibly and never be allowed to refer to having been, and I'll wager they would rather go to half as many than be able to say, "Have you seen—?" and "You

Still another Friend has kindly sent me her teapot holder directions to publish here:

"Ear of Corn Teapot Holder: Materials are yellow Germantown wool and green silk. Cast on 45 sts. and work with two yellow threads. Row 1: Knit 5 sts. with one thread; take the other thread and draw it tightly across the back of the knitted stitches to produce a curved effect like a kernel of corn. Knit the next 5

sts. with the second thread and draw them up with the first thread. Use these two threads alternately in this way across the row.

Row 2: Knit back, taking first the thread which was used in making the next to the last kernel. Knit as in preceding row, except that you must keep the thread on the wrong side of the work, which in this row is next to you. The secret of success in knitting this holder is the drawing of the threads to form the kernels. They must be drawn tightly and not allowed to slip. Knit back and forth till you have 25 rows of kernels, then, instead of casting off, take a yarn needle and draw the knitting threads through the stitches, pulling them up and tying tightly. Draw the other end together to correspond in shape.

"Finish by adding a tassel of green silk at one end and a crocheted ornament at the other. Make this ornament as follows:

"Green Top to Ear of Corn: Pick up a loop through the end kernel, make three ch. and one double, very loose, in each of the remaining eight kernels. Three ch. 2 doubles between every double underneath, and fasten to 3 ch. I never knew anyone to fail in making this holder, if they were careful about keeping the thread tight. It is very pretty when finished.—M. W.

Answer to A. M. S.: "It was kind of you to write me that you would send your Ear of Corn knitting directions in case I received none from other readers. So many women have been good enough to send theirs that I will not ask you to copy yours—but I do thank you, just the same, for offering them."

WILL CELEBRATE NAT'L. PLAY WEEK

Bonfires, Games and Wiener
Roasts to Be Main Features

National Play Week, April 22 to 28, which is being sponsored here by Community Service, is to be celebrated in the Broadway district by a neighborhood party on Broadway school grounds the evening of Tuesday, April 24. The program will include music, games, community singing and a general good time around a huge bonfire at the rear of the school grounds.

A joint committee of the Parent-Teacher Association and the men's auxiliary of the Parent-Teacher Association is working out the details. The following are the committee: Mrs. M. Adele Wickert, R. M. Ferguson, Mrs. Mary Kane, Mrs. Emma Griffin, W. A. Dampf.

The Grand View district is also to have a neighborhood party. The Foothill Improvement Association and the Parent-Teacher Association are joining forces in making the program one of the finest and biggest that the Grand View district has ever had. A joint meeting of the two organizations is being held this evening in the Grand View school to complete the detailed plans. A bonfire and wiener roast are some of the exciting features of this evening of fun.

Other districts are working out special programs which will be announced in the next day or two.

Will Widen Sycamore Canyon Road Shortly

"The announcement that Sycamore Canyon road is soon to be widened into a 100-foot boulevard carries with it a particular significance for buyers in the Wing Orange Grove tract," states Manager Marvin Smith of that subdivision, "as there are still a few remaining lots available on that boulevard, fine big lots, 50 by 150 feet each, and priced way below the market."

"When it is considered that there are only two other 100 foot boulevards in the city—Brand and Glendale—the significance of this announcement to prospective buyers in the Wing tract is realized."

"It will undoubtedly be only a matter of a day or so before these choice lots are snapped up, as, in addition to being on Sycamore Canyon road, the lots have the advantage of being within three blocks each of the new High school, the Grammar school, the car line, the bus line and the stores and markets."

The location of the Wing Orange Grove tract office is 1200 East Colorado boulevard.

Catholic Children Hear Fine Program

The Catholic children's party held Saturday afternoon at the Knights of Columbus hall proved very successful. There were three hundred in attendance and all had a wonderfully good time.

The ever popular "Punch and Judy" act was cleverly presented by professional vaudeville artists, and created considerable amusement and laughter.

The Egan Dramatic School of Los Angeles presented a program of dancing, readings and songs which was heartily received.

Charley Woods, only 6 years old, gave several recitations and songs which were greatly enjoyed, and Rita Cummings also gave recitations and dances. Little Helen Appel, the 13-year-old prima donna greatly astonished her audience with the wonderful quality of her voice, and June Waltz also gave dances, songs and recitations in a very pleasing manner.

Later in the afternoon all the children were presented with Eskimo pies and bright colored balloons.

Location of Depot Conference Topic

At a meeting that was held Saturday in the offices of the Southern Pacific Company in Los Angeles between Superintendent F. H. Williams and other officials of the company and George B. Karr, representing the cities committee; D. H. Ripley Jackson, of the depot committee; W. H. Reeves, representing the city council, and E. F. Sander, representing the board of directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, the question of the location of the proposed new Southern Pacific depot in Glendale was discussed at length, in an effort on the part of the local interests to have the building erected at a point where it would be most convenient for travelers to and from this city.

While no definite announcement can be made at this time, it is stated by those who attended the meeting that a favorable decision on the part of the railroad is expected shortly.

Students to Display Manual Training Work

Boys in the manual training classes of the Glendale Union High school have been granted permission by the directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to display specimens of their handiwork in the four corners of the booth that has been reserved at the Merchants' Industrial Exposition for the map of Glendale that is being constructed by J. T. Edwards.

COMMENT That's All

Pity Poor Legislators!
Thou Shalt Not! Is Cry
Lobbyists Too Active
Governor of Real Stuff

By Gil A. Cowan

HEAVEN help the poor legislator in the halls of the capitol at Sacramento. Of all of the blubbering brothers and sobbing sisters to be found in the universe California has a prize assortment.

Thou shalt not hang, thou shalt not hang juries, thou shalt not work more than six days a week, thou shalt not educate your children as you see fit, thou shalt not permit a newsboy to sell papers under 12 years of age, thou shalt not drive a motor car more than twenty-five miles an hour—that is only one fraction of the chorus sung morning, noon and night into the ears of the representatives of the people.

It should be perfectly reasonable and satisfactory that lobbyists be ordered out of the capital, especially those who are paid for lobbying; and the lunacy commission might be called in to determine on what nut tree the other lobbyists should languish.

There are I. W. W.'s, others so sociotically inclined they would upset Lenin's regime in Russia, and still more who would buy their way into the kingdom of heaven were it possible by offering good St. Peter a drink. Indeed, lobbying is a profession which ought to be standardized and stabilized and require the unanimous consent of the legislature for a permit to operate.

The schools have the largest lobby; the labor unions have the most effective; and the various public interests have the most expensive.

Will C. Wood is devoting most of his time to teaching the legislature how necessary his organization has become, yet one wonders who is doing their work when both Wood and Herron and two or three other assistants are in the legislative halls.

As for teachers, if roll were called at this time it might be found that as many as 500 have been at the capitol during the session, but it must be said they comport themselves with a degree of intelligence not found in other instances of strong arming the solons.

It is that tribe of self-hypnotized social reformers who are causing the gray hairs of the senators to become whiter day by day and giving the assemblymen indigestion. It is the person who believes boys from 10 to 12 should not be permitted to sell papers on the streets, or deliver them to the homes, who gives a person the creeps with his constant droning of doggerel about child welfare.

It is the woman who wants hanging abolished because she was so foolish as to witness an execution once upon a time; it is the girl who speaks about "concerted action, concerted energy and concerted effort will win our very just cause" that gets the goat of the poor fellow who was so highly honored by his constituents as to be sentenced to Sacramento for three or four months. That is not all, but it is enough to show you why legislation is such as it is with all of these monkeywrenches in the machinery.

Indeed, it is too bad that more men like Governor Richardson were not elected to office, for he has little use for soft soap and socialization of things. He does not reserve his language in telling these blubbering brothers where to head in at and the sob sisters come away from his office with the terrible story that when he tires of their barrage he indicates his displeasure by putting his feet atop the desk.

High time it is for the real business men of California to take a hitch in their plethoric belts and deal with these social parasites tramping around under the guise of probation officers, welfare workers, social survey experts, pedagogic idealists and pure, unadulterated revolutionaries.

And in this we are not criticizing the Salvation Army, which is noticeable by its absence; the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., or any other recognized association for true charity and real Christian effort.

So what is really needed is the interest of business men in the affairs of state. They are the ones who will have to back Richardson in his campaign to make this an efficient and economic government; to bring the school system and the social order to the requirements of the people—and not the ideals of those whose brooding minds are slowly weakening the moral fibre of the young and instilling distrust of all honest effort among the ignorant.

It is time for Spartans to awake to the silly state of affairs which cannot be appreciated unless you are where the squirrels feed in the shadow of the capitol dome.

New Members Added To C. of C. Committees

Additional appointments that have been made by the president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and that have been confirmed by the board of directors include that of Miss Eva Daniels, representing the Parent-Teachers' association, and Mrs. Harry P. McMullin, to represent the Tuesday Afternoon club, on the civics committee, and C. W. Ingledue, Y. M. C. A.; A. R. Eastman, Boy Scouts; O. A. Danielson, Glendale Building & Loan Co., and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, on the community chest committee.

Russian railroads are improving, only half the locomotives being out of commission now from disrepair.

HOT WATER AIDS HOUSEHOLD WORK

Dishwashing Terror Goes
When Generous Supply
Is Available

"Hot water and lots of it, is the charm that sheers off the dishwashing bugaboo," says John A. Dignan, campaign director for Gas Stove and Water Heater week, April 16 to 21.

"Too often dishwashing means broken fingernails from which the pearly sheen has long since permanently vanished, and red hands to which the smell of greasy dish water clings tenaciously. Yet dishwashing is one part of house-keeping that must never be slighted, for health's sake if for no aesthetic reasons. Colds and sore throats, to say nothing of graver ills, lurk in the carelessly washed dish, ready to sweep their disastrous way through the family."

"Dishwashing aids" come and go, but the one thing that eases up the job is an abundant supply of hot water. Not just a teakettle full, enough to remove the grease and then leave the sticky dish water still clinging to them, and a film of grease on the pots and pans that come at the end, but enough to flush every dish with hot soapy water, keep a clean suds down to the last solitary skillet and then rinse them all to shining cleanness. Warm water won't do it. To have dishes clean and sanitary as well, the water must be absolutely scalding.

Three times every day this dishwashing job rolls relentlessly around. A steady supply of hot water is a necessity if the dishes are to be done quickly and well. An efficient gas water-heater solves the problem at a cost that is infinitesimal in comparison to the service that it renders. The automatic type of water heater, either storage or instantaneous, insures a constant supply of hot water, instantly available. The dish-water is always hot and ready, whether early in the morning or the last thing at night. No other dishwashing aid is of so great help at so low a cost.

Housewife Praises Range
"The combination of a gleaming white gas range and spicy smells coming from its oven proved irresistible. The crowd in a local store gathered closer, to see and hear."

"That white stove is all very well for a bride," declared one woman, "she has plenty of time to spend keeping it clean, but I've got three children and I'm too busy to take care of all that white enamel and nickel."

"Immediately a motherly woman in front spoke up. 'Indeed, it's not hard to keep clean. My gas range is only part white enamel, and it is the black part that gives me the most trouble, the white enamel is as easy to wash as a china plate. My next stove is going to be all white, I can tell you.'"

Congregational Church Dedicates New Organ

Dedication of the fine new Hinners pipe organ recently installed in the Congregational church, corner of Central and Wilson avenues, was held at the morning services Sunday, Rev. Charles M. Calderwood delivering the dedicatory address.

Rev. Calderwood pointed out that while the primary use of the organ would be in connection with the religious services of the church, he wanted the people of Glendale generally to feel that it was also for their benefit. To this end he announced a popular recital to be given at the church on Friday night of this week, when Dr. Ray Hastings of Los Angeles, organist at the Temple Baptist church (Philharmonic auditorium), will present a very attractive program.

At the Sunday exercises, both morning and evening, Miss Lilla E. Litch, the organist engaged to play at the church, rendered beautiful sacred selections on the new Hinners organ.

GENERAL CLEANUP

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes launched a general cleanup of his organization in Colorado by suspending five federal prohibition agents and asking for the resignation of George A. Crowder, legal adviser in the Denver office.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You
Darken Gray, Faded Hair
With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. Advertisement.

are surrounded by new homes that radiate refinement—the entire section is rapidly developing and will be enhanced greatly by the widening of Colorado street, 10 feet on each side, and the paving of Sycamore Canyon Road, a 100-foot boulevard running the entire length of the tract, and the New High School only three blocks. Where can you equal it?

The popularity of this tract is shown by the marvelous rapidity with which it has sold. It is our city's most attractive home center. It offers to the public homesites that are located to meet their requirements and at prices to meet their demands.

The Wisdom of Saving

It isn't theory—that saving is the foundation of competency. It's a fact—borne out by the experience of thousands of people. The money you let lie idle is the target for innumerable ways of careless spending. The money you place in a lot in the Wing Orange Grove is safe from these temptations. It's where you can turn it into gold when you really need it. But you will think twice before you touch it—and it's the "second thought" that saves the waste. Make your start now.

IDEAL LOCATION AIDS SALE OF LOTS IN TRACT

Many Of New Owners Planning To Build; Others Reap Quick Profits

LOTS IN DEMAND BY WISE BUYERS

Wing Orange Grove Tract Is In Heart of Growing Section of City

With only eighteen lots left in the Wing Orange Grove tract, and nearly 100 land owners who bought there within the last six weeks either building or planning to build, Marvin Smith, tract manager, says that what has been one of Glendale's greatest opportunities will probably be beyond the reach of buyers at the end of the week.

"The very fact that the lots have been so ideally located and so opportunely priced," he says, "accounts for the phenomenal sales that have been registered. The tract is within three blocks each of the new high school, the grammar school, our line, bus line, stores and markets. In addition to being right in the middle of a veritable fairland of orange trees, on a gentle slope commanding a superb view of the whole valley, from the green Verdugo hills to the coast."

"And prices are within the reach of everyone. Our basic idea in establishing prices on the lots in this tract was to move them fast. The way to do that is to put the prices below the market, where the buyer can, in turn, make a quick profit. This we did, and the result has been gratifying. Not only have we sold over ninety lots in something like six weeks, but we have had the pleasurable experience of seeing many of our buyers turn around and resell at fine profits. Our books are open and we can show beyond any argument just what has been done in the Wing Orange Grove tract on re-sales."

Eighteen Unsold

"Now, with the original prices still prevailing, and with some of the very best lots left, there are eighteen chances remaining for Glendale people to get one of these fine lots—there are eighteen lots left, right in the heart of Glendale, at prices from $1400 up, with the very liberal terms of one-fourth down and the balance in three years. There is just one thing for anyone to do who is even remotely contemplating buying a lot—and that is to phone Glendale 237-M and make an appointment for us to meet them and show them what we have to offer, in this closing-out sale of lots in the Wing Orange Grove tract."

Several distinct advantages accrue to purchasers of lots in this tract, Mr. Smith points out. One is that the entire section has "arrived" and is in the heart of the new development, and is not some remote "future." Everywhere, new homes are going up, the whole district developing into one of beauty and refinement. More than a dozen homes are rising on the tract itself, and across from each of its boundaries new homes are springing up, while Adams and Colorado are witnessing an astounding business development that is a clear indication of values.

Near New Boulevard
Particularly in view of the forthcoming widening of Colorado street ten feet on each side, and the paving of Sycamore Canyon road—a 100 foot boulevard running the entire length of the tract—those homesteads are seen to be situated in a most strategic position with respect to developments and improvements that spell extra and rapid rises in value, explains Mr. Smith, who points out that the money many families let idly slip through their fingers, in the innumerable little ways of careless spending, will prove sufficient to acquire one of these fine lots, before it is too late.

Cheap homes will not be permitted, it is understood, but the restrictions are not prohibitive, being merely high enough to assure a good class of structures being erected. Building costs of the dozen now under construction there range from $4000 to $6000. "The closing sale is on," says Marvin Smith, "and it can't last long, because every lot is desirable and priced to sell. In a few days there will not be one single piece of land remaining for sale in the Wing Orange Grove tract. It is a question now of 'first come, first served'—and our tract office at 1200 East Colorado is there for the purpose of serving."

S. W. Brown Company Issues New Product

"Green Hill Chocolate Malted Milk" has joined the family of beverages being bottled at 463 Los Feliz road by the S. W. Brown Company.

This new product tastes exactly like the malted milk concocted at soda fountains and is made from the same ingredients: milk, malt and chocolate. In addition it is carbonated to give it more vigor.

"The advantage of a bottled malted milk," remarked S. W. Brown, who originated the idea, "is that it is built to a standard of quality and will never vary in flavor."

"Green Hill Chocolate Malted Milk" is being very well received, according to Mr. Brown. He reports that customers are greatly pleased with its taste and are well satisfied with its flavor. He believes that it will be a ready seller.

Other beverages put out by the S. W. Brown Company include root beer, ginger ale, apple cider, lime buck and the following flavors of pop: loganberry, cherry, grape, strawberry, orange, cream and raspberry.

MONTROSE

ORIGINALITY IS MOTIF OF HOUSE

Rustic English Bungalow Embodies Novel Ideas Of Architect

Idle Wild Lodge is the name of the rustic old English bungalow built on the southeast corner of Sierra Vista and Val Verde avenues by A. E. Swain, which is attracting a great deal of attention in Sparr Heights.

Originality is the keynote of this new home which was completed only a day or two ago. It was designed by A. E. Swain, who is a salesman for the Bar-num-Walters Realty company. He states that it would be impossible for anyone to build a duplicate unless they had watched every action and measured every bit of material used in its construction. The friends agree with him. Hawthorne wrote about "The House of Seven Gables," but this house goes two better for it has nine.

The foundation up to the floor line is of field stones embedded in cement. The south side of the house has exterior walls of hollow brick while the north side has exterior walls of field stones. This variation gives the house two entirely different appearances, depending on the angle from which it is viewed. The roof is a check-board of red and slate-colored composition shingles.

Adjoining the home on the south side is a double garage. This has double doors of stained redwood at both front and rear so that automobiles can pass right through, obviating the necessity of backing out and turning around. The broad driveway has a finish of imitation cobblestones.

The property, which comprises three lots, has a frontage of 150 feet on the east side of Sierra Vista avenue, and 130 feet on the south side of Val Verde avenue. The home has been placed near the center of this small estate and the ground surrounding it is to be appropriately landscaped. Along Val Verde avenue are to be placed tennis courts. Cement pools have been sunk into the front of the property and shrubbery will be growing soon along the banks of a short artificial creek which will be so natural that it won't be recognized even by Mother Nature.

Although the house faces the beautiful view to the west, the front entrance has a peculiar turn which makes the whole home seem to face the southwest.

Several odd steps of cement edged with bricks mount to the front porch of cement. This is under the front end of the main gable. The front door is of stained redwood in which has been inserted an irregular shaped pane of plate-glass. Above the doorway is a large window, which, like the two windows on either side of the entrance, is protected by a shield of stained redwood put together in a futuristic style. The door is guarded by a rustic latch.

Big Reception Room

Immediately behind the entrance is a reception room 16 feet wide and 21 feet long. These dimensions vary somewhat, however, for the room is wider at the front end than the rear end. This fact, together with the octagonal wooden ceiling, the jazz walls of light green plaster with rose-colored plaster overlays, the immense fireplace of granite boulders from the Tujunga wash, and double doors of stained redwood at the rear give this room an odd appearance—which was precisely its architect's desire.

The living room, which is 16 by 30 feet in size, occupies almost the entire front side of the house. This has jazz walls and a wooden octagonal ceiling, also. Massive lights of art-glass framed with brass are a combination of the direct and indirect type. The view from the large front windows is regarded as one of the finest in Sparr Heights.

The breakfast room, which is about 9 by 11 feet in size, occupies the northeast corner of the home. It gets the rays of the rising sun who has to get up earlier now in order to count the additional population of Montrose.

Adjoining the breakfast room on the east side of the house is the kitchen, which is being equipped with a dish washer and all electric labor saving devices. Both rooms are finished in gray. Adjoining this is a small screen porch. Near this are the outer cement stairs which descend to the basement where is located the gas furnace.

Bedrooms, of which there are two, are on the south side of the house. Each has its own adjoining dressing room. Between them is the bathroom which contains a

Ask Applications for Montrose Postmaster

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson has been notified by the department in Washington that applications are to be received for the position of postmaster at the office that is to be established at Montrose in the near future, and all these applications must be submitted before May 1, to receive consideration from the authorities. Posters carrying full details of the position and its duties have been posted up in the lobby of the local postoffice.

Montrose at present is supplied through the Glendale office by the rural carrier, but the amount of mail that is distributed there has been growing at such a rate that it has been found necessary to establish an office in the town.

News Notes And Personal Mention About People In Southern Section Of City

FOLLOWING will be found news notes and personal mention about people in the southern section of Glendale. Southern Glendale is steadily progressing. New homes and business blocks are under way. Many people are purchasing property.

Food experts insist on plenty of ICE!

Perishable food deteriorates rapidly in temperatures above 50 degrees. Long before it shows signs of spoiling, bacterial action has destroyed many of its nourishing qualities.

To secure the highest nutritive value from perishable food, keep it in a well-iced refrigerator. Cold, uniform temperature prevents germ growth.

The small cost of ice will be paid for many times over in the food stuff saved. And you will have the assurance that the food you serve is always pure and wholesome.

Use plenty of ice every day in the year.

TODAY—Relics of an ancient race of men have been unearthed near Astoria, Oregon, writes James S. Sheehy, Portland, Oregon, correspondent.

TOMORROW—Stay of execution for sixty days has been granted a condemned murderer in Kansas, pending outcome of court battle to decide whether a bill intended to repeal Kansas' anti-capital punishment law is valid, writes Douglas G. Tinsley, Kansas City correspondent.

By JAMES S. SHEEHY
For International News Service

PORTLAND, Ore., April 17.—Pages of history were turned back to the year 500 A. D., when Buddhist missionaries taught the dwellers along the Pacific slope, in the discovery near Albany, Ore., of what is pronounced a burial ground of an ancient race of mound builders.

A farmer, Clyde Peacock, unearthed the relics while plowing his fields. The plowshare was caught by a rock and after digging the rock out it was found to cover a fine specimen of mortar. Further digging unearthed skulls, knives, skeletons, charcoal, pestles and additional mortars.

Thirteen well-preserved skulls have been removed from the excavation, which is fifty feet long, twenty feet wide and about two feet deep. Disintegrated skeletons, pestles and mortars were found with most of the skulls.

The people of the race were of great size and strength, according to J. G. Crawford, local authority on prehistoric specimens. He examined the skulls and bones carefully. They vary in weight and some are thinner than others. The teeth in a few are badly worn, while others are in nearly perfect condition.

Crawford believes that the mound builders covered the bodies of their dead with earth and built fires over them, thus baking the forms. He is of the opinion that the custom was derived from Buddhist missionaries 500 years after the birth of Christ, and preceding the time when the North American Indians inhabited this section of the country.

Amateur archaeologists of the vicinity advanced the theory that the plot was once the burial ground of the Indians. Crawford, however, declared the skulls to be those of mound builders after closely comparing them with other specimens of mound builders and Indians he had in his laboratory.

The presence of charcoal was another point upon which Crawford based his opinion as to the origin of the skulls. He said the Indians did not use charcoal to preserve the bodies of their dead as did the mound builders.

As many as thirty mounds have been opened in the district surrounding the present discovery within the last few years. Their contents have been distributed among various museums. From evidence obtained so far it is held possible that there may have been communication between the mound builders and people who inhabited the mesas and Mexico. Color is added to this theory by the type of decorations found upon relics in the mounds and from the fact that the mound builders evidently incorporated sun worship with their phallic ceremonies. In some instances remnants of clay altars have been found in the center of the mound, surrounded by cluttered heaps of human bones.

That the mounds preceded the advent of the white man is believed to be conclusively proved by the fact that no beads or metal such as the Indians traded have ever been found.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

PLATE CIRCUIT REACTORS

Standard radio telephone transmitting circuits using one or more tubes as oscillators and one or more additional tubes as modulators require a reactor in series to the plate circuit to maintain the D.C. supply of voltage to the plate at a constant value, even though the output of the set is modulated at audible frequencies.

The reactor shown herewith was designed for this purpose. This reactor in general is built on the same lines as the microphone transformer described in the preceding article. It is intended primarily for use in the common positive plate lead to the oscillating and modulating tubes, and as previously mentioned provides a constant current system of modulation. This particular unit has an inductance of one henry at audible frequencies. The D.C. resistance is approximately 64 ohms. It is well insulated between layers.

THE GLENDALE

"All the Brothers Were Valiant," showing today for the last times at the Glendale Theatre, is the story of a whale hunt that is a whale of a picture. In story, in cast, in direction, it excels.

Ben Ames Williams wrote the story, which ran serially in the Saturday Evening Post. The cast includes Lon Chaney, Robert McKim, William Mong and Malcolm McGregor. Irvin W. Willet directed the picture, which should be enough to tell experienced theatre-goers what sort of a film it is—for Willat enjoys the reputation of being a consummate artist in celluloid, one of the handful in America who can condense drama into "a ribbon of silver light" and retain the illusion. Those who fail to see this pic-

What Causes Self-Ignition?
NOT ONLY THE DAMAGE occasioned to bearings and other engine parts by explosions due to self-ignition, prematurely timed, and evidenced by knocking, but the resulting loss of fuel and of available power are important considerations. It should be remembered that whenever gas is compressed in a closed space its temperature is increased—a common example of this being found in the fact that the barrel of a tire pump becomes very hot after the tire inflating operation. In exactly the same manner the large and an engine cylinder is heated during the compression stroke, not only by the heat resulting from the compression itself, but from the heat of preceding explosions abstracted by the gas from the cylinder. Some hydro-carbon vapor mixtures ignite at lower temperatures than others, but all of them are fired if the temperature of any part they come into contact with is sufficiently elevated. All the internal parts of the compression chamber into which the fresh charge is drawn have been subjected to the intense heat of previous explosions therein and, if any of these parts are ineffective, cooled, on account of the accumulation upon them of carbon deposits (which are poor conductors of heat), or by any other failure of the cooling system, permits one part of a plate to reach a different state of charge

SHOULD BLOW-OUTS BE REPAIRED?

H. E. M. asks: Please give me some advice on repairing blow-outs in casings.

Answer: This is a matter of dollars and cents mainly and the thing to avoid is a throwing of good money after bad. A casing that blows out because of some local defect, but is otherwise sound and capable of considerable service may well be put in running condition again. On the other hand a casing of poor quality or one which has nearly served from another conduce to local action.

A. E. P. asks: How can you tell when there is water in the gasoline?

Answer: Water in the carburetor causes the engine to miss irregularly and if much is present, causes it to stop, and makes starting very difficult. If water is suspected the drain-cock at the bottom of the carburetor should be opened and the contents of the float-chamber should be drawn into a tumbler. Water and gasoline do not mix any more than oil and water and if the latter is present it can be readily seen. The line of separation between the gasoline and water is perfectly distinct. Liquid should be drawn until it comes free of water.

EFFECT OF ELECTRIC CURRENT

Electricity may be stored in an apparatus called a condenser, as air is stored under pressure in a tank, certain characteristic effects accompanying the condition. However, the most practical applications of electricity follow from the movement of electric charges—that is, electric current. Quantity of electricity is of importance in connection with subjects such as electronics and capacitance, which will be dealt with in their order in future articles.

A wire in which an electric current is passing acts exactly like a wire without current. Our senses are not directly impressed. The electric current itself cannot be seen, heard, smelt or tasted. Its presence can only be detected by its effects—that is, by what happens when it gives up some of its energy, such as causing a motor to turn or deflect the needle of a measuring instrument such as an ammeter. Electrical energy has then been

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND TIPPY TUMBLE

One day, when there was no school, because the lady mouse teacher was ill, Tippy Tumble ran over to Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. Tippy Tumble was a little puppy dog, the brother of Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow. The reason he was called Tippy Tumble was that he was always tipping over and tumbling down, because he was so unsteady on his funny little legs.

Tippy Tumble also did other queer things which I shall tell you about when the right time comes. Uncle Wiggily heard a funny little scratching sound on the door of his hollow stump bungalow and when the dear old rabbit gentleman looked out—there was Tippy Tumble.

"Hello, Tippy, what do you want?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "I have come over to play with you," answered the little puppy chap. "Jackie and Peetie have gone to a ball game and there is no school for me so I have come to see you."

"Crawl in," invited Uncle Wiggily, and Tippy Tumble scrambled up over the doorkill like the little pig. Only Tippy fell down, for you don't need to worry—he didn't hurt himself.

"Upside-down!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, as he helped Tippy Tumble in. "Now if you wait a minute until I read the paper I'll play with you." So Uncle Wiggily sat down in his easy chair to read the morning paper, and Tippy Tumble wobbled about the room. Pretty soon Uncle Wiggily began looking about him.

"What are you looking for?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. "My slippers," answered the bunny gentleman. "I had them on when I sat down to read the paper, but I took them off for a moment and—"

"Oh, are these your slippers?" asked Tippy Tumble, as he dragged them from the corner. "I didn't know what they were, and I took them to play with."

"You mustn't drag Uncle Wiggily's things into corners," said Nurse Jane, but the bunny gentleman only laughed. Then he looked around for something else.

"What's gone now?" asked Nurse Jane. "My glasses," answered Uncle Wiggily. "I took them off to look for my slippers and—"

"Oh, may be these are your glasses," whined Tippy Tumble as he brought them from another corner, where he had dragged them while Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane were talking about the slippers. "I was going to play with them—"

"Tippy Tumble, you are a mischievous little puppy dog!" chided Nurse Jane, shaking her paw at him.

"Oh, he didn't mean any wrong," said Uncle Wiggily. Then he and Tippy Tumble played some games in the bungalow.

Now all this while the Woosie Wolf was sneaking around, looking for a chance to nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears. This day the Wolf had dressed himself up very fine, like a new clothes advertisement in the trolley car with a cane, tall silk hat and everything.

"I'll pretend to be a gentleman," said the Wolf. "Nurse Jane and Uncle Wiggily won't know me. They'll think I'm an insurance agent or the gas man and let me in the bungalow. Then I'll nibble that rabbit's ears!"

And because of his good clothes, the Wolf got in the bungalow. He sat down in a chair, laid his hat and cane on the floor, and then, all of a sudden, he howled:

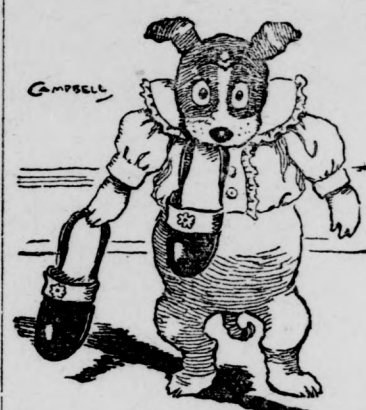

"Now I have you, Uncle Wiggily. I'm going to take you off to my den and nibble your ears. Come with me." The Wolf started to take Uncle Wiggily away, and looked around for his hat and cane. "Where's my cane? I can't take Uncle Wiggily away—I can't go away myself—without my hat and cane. Where are they?"

But, though he looked all over he couldn't find his hat and cane, and while he was looking, and dragging Uncle Wiggily from corner to corner, Nurse Jane quietly telephoned for the Police Dog.

And when the Police Dog came and arrested the bad Wolf, little Tippy Tumble crawled out from under the big sofa and barked:

"I hid the Wolf's hat and cane under the sofa so he couldn't find them. I hid them."

"Tippy Tumble, you are a good little puppy!" You saved Uncle Wiggily's ears!" said Nurse Jane. And then the bunny gentleman gave Tippy Tumble a penny for a lollipop. And Tippy fell down in

COST OF LIVING
SHOWS INCREASE

Twelve Per Cent Higher
Than Last Year, Says
Labor Department

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Prices for the necessities of life now average 12 per cent higher than a year ago, and are still on the upgrade, an increase of 14 per cent being noted in March over February, it was announced by the labor department today.

Building materials and metals again showed large increases in March over the preceding month, due to sharp advances in lumber, brick, paint, structural steel, iron pipe, roofing tin, steel billets, copper, lead, tin and zinc, the increase in these two groups averaging 3 and 7 per cent, respectively. Smaller increases were recorded for the groups of farm products, foods, cloths and clothing, chemicals and drugs, house furnishings, goods and miscellaneous commodities. In the food group, raw sugar averaged 18.2 per cent higher and granulated sugar 17.6 per cent higher in March than in February.

Comparing March prices with those in March, 1922, metals and metal products showed the largest increase, amounting to 36 1/2 per cent. Building materials followed next with an increase of 27 1/2 per cent. Cloths and clothing increased 16 1/2 per cent, farm products 10 per cent and miscellaneous commodities 8 1/2 per cent. Food articles, fuel and lighting, chemicals and drugs and house furnishings showed smaller increases compared with prices a year ago.

Einstein Theory on Rickety Base, Said

SANTA CLARA, Calif., April 17.—A new voice was added today to the controversy over the Einstein theory of relativity, when Father J. S. Ricard, famous astronomer and seismologist, declared the foundations of the theory were "rickety," some of its fundamental postulates "absurd" and the entire theory "an insult to common sense."

The recent Lick observatory test of the bending of starlight, Father Ricard said, was explicable otherwise than by the Einstein theory, and declared that in his opinion Capt. T. J. J. See, naval astronomer, who denounced the Einstein structure as "humbug," was taking "a broad viewpoint."

Lease Three Sections
Naval Reserve Land

WASHINGTON, April 17.—With the concurrence of Secretary of the Navy Denby, Secretary of the Interior Work today authorized the offering for lease of three sections of land in naval reserve number 2, near Taft, Kern county, California. The tracts consist of about 1500 acres and are in the reserve known as "Buena Vista Hills."

In 1900 swimming authorities positively stated that no man would ever swim a hundred yards in less than one minute. Many, many years ago track athletic authorities positively predicted that no man would ever run 100 yards under ten seconds. Both those prognostications, as the world today knows, have been shot into a cocked hat.

Now comes an even more remarkable performance by a swimmer than negotiating a single hundred yards in under one minute. A few days ago Johnny Weismuller, of the Illinois A. C., swam two one hundred yards in a 200-yard event in the remarkable world record time of one minute fifty-nine and one-fifth seconds.

In other words, each hundred was done under a minute, the first time such a performance has ever been accomplished. Back in 1900 the world record for 200 yards was two minutes thirty and two-fifths seconds, and it never came within the realm of possibility at that time that a man could swim this distance on a sprint all the way and break the two-minute mark. As a matter of fact, even present-day swimming authorities never until last year even admitted that a man could swim 200 yards under two minutes.

The performance by Weismuller is one of the most remarkable swimming feats of all time, and only goes to further demonstrate the remarkable ability, strength, speed and stamina of the man. Weismuller is a super-man in the swimming world. The Charlie Daniels, the Derbyshires, the Nuttalls, the Billingtons of the early 1900's followed by the Kahana mokus, the Rosses, the McGillivrays and others of present-day swimmers, or going back to the champions of the 80's, with such brilliant men as Lenton, Jones and Tyers of England or Braum, Reeder and Brewer of this country never with all their brilliancy ever came anywhere near even the two-minute mark, nor did the experts of the periods mentioned ever believe these or any other man of the future would break two minutes for 200 yards. And there are hundreds of other brilliant swimmers in all parts of the world, such as Kiernan, Lane, the Cavill brothers and others of Australia or de Halmay the great Hungarian, Schiolo of Germany, and many others who never dreamed of such a thing as two minutes for 200 yards when they were champions.

Weismuller is today recognized the greatest of all swimmers of all time. He is a freak, and his 1:59-1 1/5 proves that. The best previous record on the books of the A. A. U. was two minutes six seconds, by Norman Ross, in a sixty-foot tank. Weismuller has smashed that to atoms, and if the new record is to be broken it will take a man of the same super-ability as Weismuller to do it.

The sequence of lightweight champions are more or less obscured in the mists of time prior to 1880 for little effort was made, as at present, to keep the complete and official records that now are the rule in all forms of sport.

However, there is no doubt as to the validity of the claim to the title of Arthur Chambers who recently died at the advanced age of 75 years at Philadelphia. The title passed in 1879 to Chambers from Johnny Clark in a 136 round battle at Chippewa Falls with bare knuckles.

Then it is we come to the year 1880 when we are able to align such 128 to 133 pounders as Jack McAuliffe, Billy Frazier, George Fulljames, Harry Gilmore and others. About the first champion in America concerning whom there are fairly well established records is Abe Hickman. There seems to be nothing to show who took the crown from Hickman and it may be that he simply retired and the title was set adrift. A decidedly different state of affairs from present conditions.

According to some of the baseball writers it is a mere waste of time for the New York Giants to play through the season, the idea being that they are so certain of winning the pennant they might as well tend to any other business they have in mind and let the other seven teams play for the honor of meeting the Gothamites in the finals. One of the finest characteristics of the national game is its uncertainty. These prophets may be made to look like the well known and justly 30 cents before the middle of the season has come around.

Twenty thousand Mexicans screamed for Balza when he knocked down Sam Langford for the count of eight in their recent battle at Mexico City. These same twenty thousand went wild over the old negro when he got up, came back and put his opponent down and out. All of which would indicate that the Mexicans are impartial and it matters not who gets the licking provided the entertainment is forthcoming.

It would be an interesting thing to know just how the women golfers compare with the men in respect to the number who play the game. While the men undoubtedly are in the majority it is more than likely that it figures could be arrived at, that the difference would not be as great as many may suppose. Practically every golf club in the country has its women's annex and the men are no more enthusiastic than their wives, sisters and daughters when it comes to regularly going over the course.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Three years ago George Kelly, the audible first baseman of the world's champion Giants, was regarded as the most malleable sport figure in New York City. Three years is a long time. It may be like a fleeting moment to the man condemned to die, but it is overlong as a period of residence at Leavenworth or for the retention of a grapefruit in the right cheek with any degree of comfort.

It has been long enough for George Kelly, the erstwhile sap, to establish himself as a worthy ball player and something of a popular figure among New York sport followers. That didn't seem possible in 1920, when George was doing his conscientious best to live down the impression that he was a big bum, a terrible tramp and altogether quite a mistake.

Kelly was the victim of circumstances at that time. Naturally an easy-going, inoffensive type, he was asked to step into the shoes of the discredited Hal Chase in a single season and was condemned per se, when he proceeded to act the part of an extremely ordinary ball player.

Peculiar in build, an awkward specimen, if there ever was one, he bore the same general resemblance to Chase that prevails between a steam roller and a limousine. In consequence the fans rode him as they had ridden only one other New York ball player—Larry Doyle. But where Larry had the temperament that fights back, Kelly seemed entirely too polite and gentlemanly to overcome the handicap, and his early passing from public view was deemed conventional.

That he didn't curl up and quit is at once a tribute to the player's gameness and a New York blessing. For Kelly has remained with us to become one of the leading first basemen of the day—a great mark to shoot at, a long-distance hitter second to none in the league and a possessor of one of the best throwing arms in baseball and it may be of interest to note that Kelly delivered the hit that made the 1922 pennant safe for the Giants and, several weeks later, drove home the winning run in the final conclusive game of the world's series.

In brief, Kelly has reversed the order of that inelegant epigram which tells about the hero of today becoming the bum of tomorrow.

Browns' First Sacker
To Play Again Soon

ST. LOUIS, April 17.—George Sisler, premier first baseman of the American league, may soon be back in the uniform of the St. Louis Browns, it was predicted here today following announcement that the operation on Sisler for sinus trouble was successful. The operation, it was announced, was performed last Saturday.

We trust that Europe doesn't observe America squirming when she scolds Russia for her dishonesty in not returning seized property.

GLENDALE GUARDS LOSE
IN BATTLE OF SUNLAND

Soldiers Make Vain Struggle to Withstand
Bombardment of Rival Team, but Come
Out On Short End of Score

SUNLAND made it four in a row and added another scalp to their collection Sunday afternoon by disarming the Glendale National Guard, 19 to 3, as near as it can be figured out. The official scorer is still out of his head. May this country never get mixed up in any wars. The soldiers' line of attack was good, but their defense was—well, call it slightly erratic and let it go at that.

The Guards' pitcher was arrested on a charge of vagrancy. He had no visible means of support! Sunland ran bases until they were dizzy and on—gent started for third and sing and went around the bases backwards before they could catch him. He's up-state now, in an apartment with upholstered walls, babbling about base hits and stolen bases. And that's not all—official scorer has been unconscious for 62 hours with a pencil wedged in his paralyzed fingers.

Slim Bradburn did the tossing for the home athletes. Slim is a mild term for it. He's just wide enough to be able to wear a length of macaroni for a sweater and just dim enough to try it. Remove his Adam's apple and he could be shipped parcel post to Penobscot for 8 cents. But brothers, what a sweet ball player! If he doesn't steal home at least once every game he goes home crying.

Make Three Runs
In the first inning the Guards went out in order except for Mitchell's single. Sunland made three runs on three singles, a walk and a sacrifice, enough to win any game. But they must have been getting some raw meat from the neighbors, because in the second it happened.

Slim, the boy wonder, set the Guards' heavy artillery down one, two, three and the parade was on. Everybody batted once in this frame and two hard working blokes, Minter and Petrotta, had two turns at the rubber. Minter, first up for Sunland, singled, took second on a passed ball and third on Petrotta's single. Bush walked. Three on, none down. Minter and Petrotta scored on Phillips' single. Bush and Phillips scored a minute later on La Fleur's two base knock. La Fleur stole third while Waite was taking three healthy. Terzo walked and stole second and was out at the plate trying to score. Terzo, taking third. While the crew was arguing about La Fleur's out, Terzo slunk home. Wild applause from the bleachers. Bradburn, the slender one, singled, his second and went home. While the above argument raged, but the ump thumped him back to third. The ump has a heart like last week's biscuits. Slim scored a minute later on a passed ball. Smith doubled and took third on a passed ball. Minter, batting for the second time, singled home. Terzo, batting in one frame. He took second and then third on passed balls. Franklin, catching for the Guards, closely resembled a sieve, the way the ball dribbled through his pants. Petrotta, also taking his second turn at bat, took pity on the soldiers and struck out, thereby saving the score keeper from getting writer's cramp. Seven runs on seven hits, two walks, four passed balls, one field goal, two forward passes, a loose knuckle and some public thinking. Murder!

Franklin opened the third and Wendt attempted to sacrifice but the play went wrong and Franklin was killed off at second. Wendt stole second and took third on Waite's overthrow of the bag. Arice squeezed him home. McMillan flew out and Mitchell was thrown out. One run.

In the last half of the third Sunland never got a run. One bird fell out of the stands and seven others dropped in a swoon. Glendale was blanked again in the fourth, while Sunland rang up a run in their half. In the fifth Glendale got one.

Throw and Duck
In the sixth White, pitching in place of Wendt, ran into a flock of base hits. He was better than Wendt though, because he could duck quicker after delivering the pitch. Throw and duck was the order of the day. La Fleur singled. Dutch Bradstetter, batting for Waite, walked. Terzo, batting for exercise, singled. Slim Bradburn singled, scoring La Fleur and Dutch. Terzo rang in on a passed ball. Three runs.

Glendale got nothing in the seventh and bolstered up the offense and held Sunland almost helpless, the latter being able to core only five runs in this inning. 'S a sad tale, mates, but he must be told.

Petrotta walked and Bush knocked a bump-backed liner to short right-center. The second baseman, center and right fielders gathered in a circle and watched it plop between them. Phillips beat out a bunt. La Fleur struck out and Dutch Bradstetter walked, forcing in Petrotta. Bush scored on a wild throw and so did Phillips. Dutch going to third on these two heaves. More murder. Terzo walked. Both scores, while Slim was announcing, the scorer swooned and time was called until the ump could find his smelling salts. White sent in a hurry call for the fire department and by valiant work they got the side out. Five runs.

In the eighth Sanders, first up, hit Sunland's tag marathon when Sanders tapped an easy bounder to Slim. Slim thought it was about time he added a put-out to his collection of hits and ran Sanders down on the way to first, using only two gears. His ankles were smoking, but he could have let 'er out another notch if necessary.

Adam's Apple Lost
McMillan singled and stole third, agitating Slim to such an extent that he swallowed his Adam's apple. Mitchell struck out and McMillan scored when Easy singled. Kingsley was thrown out at first. One run.

In the last half Bush had a sad calamity "calam" itself upon him. After Minter and Petrotta had struck out he singled and the poor boy was so woozy from circling the lot that he became confused and ran to third instead of first. Then, while the tears streamed from sympathetic players' eyes, he stole second. Ball players are tender-hearted that way. But they caught him trying to steal the ump's bank book and sent for the wagon.

With the official scorer out of his head, the bat boy doped out the box score. An inquest was held and the coroner's report follows:

SEEKS PERMISSION

NEW YORK, April 17.—Charles Paddock of Los Angeles, world's fastest sprinter, is attempting to secure permission from officials of the A. A. U. allowing him to compete in a meet in Paris in the spring. The athletic organization has issued a ruling forbidding athletes from participating abroad this year. Paddock is due to sail on Friday.

The Los Angeles flyer declared he did not know whether he would make the trip if permission were refused him to compete. In case he did not sail, he said, he might enter the Penn relays at Philadelphia April 27.

A Teakettle Bank In the Cornfield

A sly old fellow was Farmer Brown. Hard working, honest, saving—but no faith in any one but himself. He placed his savings in an old teakettle which he hid in his cornfield.

It was discovered by tramps—sorrowfully he learned that it was no place to keep money.

What does it profit a man to save his money and hide it in a teakettle?

Of course very few people of today literally place their money and faith in old teakettles, but countless numbers are still banking their hard earned funds in the old kettle of indifference without even a thought of the oncoming tramps of senseless buying and careless use, who so often discover its hiding place.

A portion of the money you earn should be saved and properly cared for. Discard teakettles and let us show you the wisdom of a regular saving habit and placing it out of the reach of the tramps.

Start today by opening an account in our Representative Home Bank.

KAMM MAKES HIT
WITH TEAM MATE

Eddie Collins Says Coast
Star Has Everything
Needed to Win

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service
NEW YORK, April 17.—According to Eddie Collins, an authority on the subject—or the horseshoe curve—is a straightaway—Willie Kamm bears such an amazing resemblance to a star third baseman that he (Collins) is unable to tell the difference.

Kamm is everything the experts have made him, and more, in the opinion of Eddie.

"He is a great ball player," Collins declared before the White Sox left for the west to get ready for the opening of the American league season. "I do not know what else I can say about him; that would state the case more clearly. Kamm does everything well."

"This was not the formal boost one ball player feels obligated to give another when speaking for publication. Sincerity and conviction were evident in Collins' words. He made the statement in the manner of one who concedes that Harding is president.

"We were just a good ball club until Kamm joined us. Now we are a first class club," says Eddie. Collins declined to go on record as to what position he believed the Sox would occupy in the final ranking. He merely said that they expected to be in the race from the outset.

Dempsey to Fight
'Some One' in July

OAKLAND, Cal., April 17.—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, announced upon his arrival here today that the heavyweight champion "would fight someone somewhere next July."

"Picking the opponent is not up to us," said Kearns, fresh from Salt Lake City, where he and his champion protégé became coal magnates. "Dempsey will be ready to meet any opponent selected whether he be Harry Wills, Tom Gibbons, Jess Willard, Floyd Johnson or Louis Firpo.

"I expect to go east in about ten days. Something may be done then. I will give careful consideration to all of the several propositions that have been made."

Kearns said the offer of Mike Collins of $200,000 for a fight in Shelby, Montana, on July 2, had been taken under advisement and would be given the same consideration as those of Tex Rickard for a bout at Jersey City, one from Tom O'Rourke for a Polo ground in New York and from Cleveland promoters for a bout in Ohio.

The champion's manager said his negotiations with Collins had nothing to do with the Montana American Legion, but that Collins was representing business and oil men of Shelby. Kearns declined to discuss the telegram of the American Legion which repudiated negotiations said to have been carried on in the legion's name, and scoring Dempsey for his war record, other than to say it was "cheap publicity."

DODGERS WINNER

NEW YORK, April 17.—The Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the New York Yankees, American League champions, in their final exhibition yesterday, 7 to 3.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Pittsburgh.—Jimmy Jones of Youngstown, won on foul from Eddie Shelvington, 3 rounds.

At Detroit.—Phil O'Dowd saved Johnny Sheppard.

At Chicago.—George Dutch

Credit Assn. to Aid In Play Week Plans

Plans for co-operation in National Play Week, that is to be staged here from April 23 to 28 under the auspices of the Community Service, were made at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Credit association in the Citizens building yesterday, when a committee was appointed to assist in securing the assistance of the local merchants in the efforts to make the week as successful as possible.

One of the matters that is to be urged is the closing of the local business establishments during the time that the monster parade is to be held on Friday, April 27, when as many as possible will be asked to participate in making the play week one that will be a round of pleasure to all the boys and girls in the city, as well as to many people of more mature years.

The usual amount of routine business was transacted during the luncheon and local business conditions were reviewed at length by those present at the meeting.

Sale Draws Throng Of Bargain Hunters

The Irish Linen Store, 117 N. Brand Blvd., reports the response to the Alteration Sale, which was announced in Monday's Evening News exclusively, the greatest of any sale this store has ever conducted in Glendale.

The sale was inaugurated as a prelude to extensive alterations in the store which will be enlarged in order to properly accommodate an ever-increasing stock, and will be continued until April 25th.

There are few business houses in Glendale that have had a more gratifying growth than the Irish Linen Store, which has a reputation for many miles around Glendale—for the high quality and dependability of the merchandise carried, particularly its line of alterations.

As the reductions offered have been very drastic, it is said, Glendale women in large numbers are taking advantage of the unusual inducements offered.

Rich Opium Haul in Arrest of Veteran

SEATTLE, April 17.—Opium valued at between $5000 and $6000 was seized by city detectives today in the auto of Richard E. King, war veteran. King was turned over to federal authorities who declared he had been under suspicion for three years.

The auto was found to possess a three-way electric flashlight system, whereby three colored lights could be used for signalling purposes, a device said to be generally used by whiskey and drug runners.

Banker to Prison for Killing Three Persons

PHILADELPHIA, April 17.—Henry C. Brown, wealthy banker, society man and clubman, today pleaded guilty to second degree murder in connection with the killing of three persons by his motor car on March 2.

At the time of the triple tragedy Brook was arrested in a dazed condition several squares from the scene, standing beside his car, which was damaged and blood-stained.

Conviction of Dope Seller Is Confirmed

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Conviction of Victor Raymond Hammar, in Oregon, for violation of the narcotic law in dealing illegally in cocaine and his sentence to thirteen months' imprisonment will stand, by decision of the supreme court of the United States in dismissing the case for want of jurisdiction.

ROBINSON AGAIN CHOSEN AS MAYOR

Complete Harmony Prevails At Reorganization Meeting of City Council

In closing I wish to say that the two new members of the council have my full support. If at any time I can be of assistance, I will be more than glad to help.

Councilman Stephenson, in saying good-bye, opened his remarks by declaring that recently he had a dream in which he saw himself making his "retirement" speech. He declared that in the dream he paid his "compliments" to certain people and, in his dream, the speech was a "roaster." Then, he said, he awoke. Later he wrote out the speech as he dreamed it—then he tore it up.

Thanks Glendale's Paper

"And that speech is not the one I will make tonight," he continued. "In fact, I am not going to make a speech. I simply want to say that I have served about three years as a city trustee and councilman. They have been three years of enjoyable, educational, trying and hard work. I have made many real friendships. I am retiring of my own accord and in doing so I wish to state that I believe the city of Glendale has a fine set of employees, efficient and loyal. I particularly want to express my thanks to Glendale's newspaper, The Evening News, for its always fair treatment of this council and the city's employees, generally. The Evening News has always presented our proceedings in a fair and unbiased manner and as I retire from this council I wish to express my appreciation to Glendale's newspaper. I am willing to let the future be the judge of the acts of this council. I am confident that when the smoke rolls away this council will be recognized as having done a great service for Glendale and that the criticism given now to some of its acts will then be called unfair and without foundation. As I go from the city's official family, I wish to tender my services to the council; I am willing to aid in any capacity called upon. So, I go to sit upon the side lines—and my hammer is under lock and key."

Mayor Robinson declared himself as sorry to see the two councilmen leave and he promised that the city would be glad to avail itself of the suggestions that they, as citizens, might make from time to time.

Take Oath of Office

With the "retiring ceremonies" completed, the council adjourned and "Citizens" Lapham and Stephenson took their places on the side lines to watch the proceedings incident to the installation of the two new councilmen.

As soon as City Clerk Van Vleet had administered the oath of office to Councilmen Hall and Horn, the new officials seated themselves at their desks, the former taking Lapham's desk and the latter taking that vacated by Stephenson.

Mayor Robinson then read that portion of the charter which says that the council shall choose one of its members as presiding officer, to be called mayor.

"The charter does not provide that the mayor shall retire after every election," said Mayor Robinson. "However, I believe that I should give way at this time as we are about to organize."

Thereupon the mayor called City Clerk Van Vleet to the chair. Then Councilman Kimlin expressed his appreciation, on behalf of the city, for Mayor Robinson's efforts as presiding officer.

"Spencer Robinson may sometimes be a little rough, but he has a big heart, and to put it bluntly, he would give you the shirt off his back if you needed it," declared Councilman Kimlin.

He has worked early and late for Glendale; he has spent his own money on city business; he knows our needs, and so I take pleasure in nominating Mr. Robinson for mayor."

A motion was seconded by Councilman Davis, who also paid a tribute to Mayor Robinson's work for the city.

"Without throwing any bouquets at myself, I will say that I consider that I am a much better councilman than Robinson, but he makes a much better mayor than I could," asserted Councilman Davis.

"I have sat in with him at conferences in Los Angeles; I have watched him before state boards; I have seen him preside at public meetings—and I'm a realist," he explained.

Roy L. Kent, in the audience, said that citizens should attend council meetings.

"Tell Council Direct

"It's easy to criticize," he said. "It's hard to knock the council without having gone near it. I urge the citizens to come direct to the council to make complaints. I am willing to do my part; I offer this council any aid in my power."

Rev. A. B. Smart offered a resolution to the effect that the council go on record against the city participating in real estate deals.

"The council is not going to make any deals," said Mayor Robinson. "I would rather pet a rattlesnake." He ordered the resolution filed with the city clerk.

Mrs. Hoover Leads 'Better' Movement

Mrs. Herbert Hoover

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the Secretary of Commerce, has laid plans for physical education, and training of women that have been enthusiastically approved by the War Department. A great conference will begin in Washington on April 6, attended by representatives from hundreds of schools and universities. The National Amateur Athletic Federation is sponsoring the movement. Mrs. Hoover being the only woman vice-president of the organization. The War Department believes that better women, physically, will be better mothers, whose sons will be models of manhood unlike the many hundreds of thousands of unfit men, physically, shown in the last draft.

Phone Company Wins In Lower Rates Fight

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The effort of the New York public service commission to force reduced rates by the New York Telephone Company was lost today by a decision of the United States supreme court.

The appeal of the commission to set aside an injunction by lower federal courts preventing enforcement of the reduced rates was rejected.

know that the council faced big problems. As a taxpayer and a citizen I want to say that the council is deserving of much praise. It had a hard task. I appreciate the opportunity of working for Glendale. I hope to see it a home city that cannot be excelled. I thought that once I had found the city where I wanted to remain for my life. Then I came to Glendale. This is the ideal city and I am happy in the chance to do what I can to further the community we love."

Councilman Hall followed with a few remarks, saying that he would like to criticize what Councilman Horn had just said. Councilman Horn had just said, "I will do the best I can for the city," he said. "I want to see it the model city of America. I want to have it so that other communities, learning of the model city, will send for our reports to learn how we do it."

Committee Work

Mayor Robinson announced that it would be fitting to have the two new councilmen take up the committee work of the two retiring councilmen. He gave Councilman Horn the public safety committee, which includes the police and fire departments, and gave Councilman Hall the public service committee.

Councilman Hall asked for a financial statement for himself and Councilman Horn in order that they might be posted regarding the city treasury. They were told that a statement was given each councilman every month and were provided with one last night before departure.

Councilman Horn urged that council meetings be held in the day time. He declared that day meetings would make for better efficiency, would not call out city employees to night duty and would permit citizens having business with the council to transact it in business hours.

"I just make the suggestion. I do not make a motion to that effect," he would ask that the suggestion be given consideration," he explained.

Roy L. Kent, in the audience, said that citizens should attend council meetings.

"Tell Council Direct

"It's easy to criticize," he said. "It's hard to knock the council without having gone near it. I urge the citizens to come direct to the council to make complaints. I am willing to do my part; I offer this council any aid in my power."

Rev. A. B. Smart offered a resolution to the effect that the council go on record against the city participating in real estate deals.

"The council is not going to make any deals," said Mayor Robinson. "I would rather pet a rattlesnake." He ordered the resolution filed with the city clerk.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds told how Glendale had grown in the past twelve years; he said he had "fought, bled and died" with Mayor Robinson and concluded with a story to illustrate he could "smell" a bad council.

Peter Ferry declared the council needs the cooperation of the people. He urged that "if you have anything against the councilmen, tell it to them, not to some one on the street corner."

With "outgoing" and "incoming" ceremonies completed, the new council transacted some routine business, then adjourned until next Thursday night.

Suburban Property Goes in Record Time

Another sales record has been established in Glendale real estate. Forty-two choice, scenic homesites, facing the famous Brand's Castle on Tenth Street near Western Avenue, were sold within twenty-four hours of the opening announcement last Saturday, according to Alfred R. Johnson, of the Suburban Realty Co., subdividers of the property.

"Suburban Heights Unit No. 1 which has been proclaimed part of the most desirable and valuable property in or surrounding Glendale, has been completely surveyed and laid out in extra large, scenic lots. Street work, curbs, sidewalks, light, water and gas have been installed and shade trees planted. In addition to this there are already several modern homes erected and occupied, none of them costing less than $3500 to $5000.

"Last Saturday's sale came as an eye opener to the residents of our community," continued Mr. Johnson. "Up to the present time we have not made any great efforts, to market this property, being satisfied to let the buyers come to us rather than open up a large selling campaign and thereby increase the cost to the purchaser. We figured that our prices would allow us a reasonable profit and still leave room for today's buyers to hold the property a few months and make a nice margin of profit if they did not want to build immediately. Our ideas along these lines were undoubtedly correct as proven by last week's sales. Sunday afternoon there was not one of the original lots for sale at any price in our first unit."

"We are actively working on the improvements in Unit No. 2 and hope to be able to make an announcement by the end of this week. If we are able to complete the financial deal which we are now working upon we will offer the buying and profit-making public of Glendale one of the biggest and best money-makers that they ever heard of in the history of Glendale."

Since above interview with Mr. Johnson, word has been received that the Suburban Realty Co. have secured eight more lots, part of a parcel of fifteen purchased by one party who found that he could only afford to carry half of his original purchase. Mr. Johnson states that these eight lots will be offered by the company at the same original low prices and the same low terms as at last Saturday's sale. What is one man's misfortune is always the other's gain, especially such valuable homesites in such a desirable profitable location.

Conspiracy Defendant Able to Stand Trial

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Following a report of three physicians that Harry F. Morse of New London, Conn., indicted on a charge of having conspired to defraud the government was physically able to come here and attend trial, the court this afternoon revoked his bail of $10,000 and issued a bench warrant for him.

A deputy marshal left for New London immediately to bring Morse here for trial tomorrow.
